Check Shows Vote Normal For Off Year

Balloting Takes Extra Time Because of the Many Special Issues

A normal turnout of voters for an off-year election was indicated by a mid-morning spot-check of voting precincts in the city and county today with approximately 10 per cent of the registered voters having visited the polls.

Voting trends this morning were described "about the same," "not quite as heavy," or "a little slower" in comparison with the last off-year election in 1951.

Voting Takes Longer

However, precinct workers pointed out that voters were taking considerabl, longer time to mark their ballots, some as long as 30 minutes. City voters, for example, were confronted with six separate ballots, including the large-size state constitutional amendments ballot.

Here are the results of the spot check made between 9 and 10 a.m.:

Precinct	Number Registered	Number Voting
1-A	523	39
2-B	537	50
2-C	564	41
3-C	679	59
4-D	570	60

11,200 Votes Predicted

A mild, sunny fall day created a favorable outlook that the anticipated turnout of 11,200 voters might be reached by the time polls closed at 6:30 p.m. One precinct reported that the noon hour was expected to be the busiest, while another precinct worker expected the 4 to 6 p.m. period to be their heaviest time. Still a third reported that the 8 to 9 a.m. time had been their busiest time.

In comparison with the number of voters registered, Prospect Township South and Pleasant Township South, showed the best percentage of voter turnout this morning. They had a vote of a little more than 13 per cent at midmorning.

Precincts 5-A and 6-D followed, with an 11 per cent turnout. Having the lowest turnout in the city were Precincts 2-C and 3-C, with a little more than seven per cent.

Clues to '54 Vote Sought

Elections Watched For Political Trend

By The Associated Press

It's election day and the big ones—a mayor in New York and governors in New Jersey and Virginia—had Republicans and Democrats battling with one eye on election day a year hence.

Ever since a Democrat upset a Republican in Wisconsin's special congressional election last month, leaders of both parties have been looking to this day for clues. The way things go today, they theorize, might show how things will go in the 1954 congressional election.

Chain Reaction Feared

As Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) expressed one GOP viewpoint, election of a Democratic governor in New Jersey—it would be the first time in 10 years—might set off a chain reaction resulting in a Democratic Congress.

That, Dirksen said, would "tie the hands" of President Eisenhower during the last two years of the first Republican national administration in two decades.

Eisenhower is backing the Republican candidates in all three crucial races—Paul L. Troast for New Jersey governor, Theodore R. Dalton for Virginia governor and Harold Riegelman for New York mayor.

The President has said that, while he doesn't want to use his office in partisan politics, he of course wants to see Republicans elected.

Troast Slight Favorite

Troast, 58, and a wealthy contractor, is seeking the chair of Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll. He appeared to be a slight favorite to win over Democrat Robert B. Meyner, 44, a lawyer and former state senator.

In Virginia, Dalton's whirlwind attempt to become his state's first Republican governor whistled head-on into the powerful Democratic organization headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd.

Byrd didn't take the stump for his man, former Rep. Thomas B. Stanley, 63, until two weeks ago. Before then Stanley had been campaigning in a quiet, easy-going manner while Dalton hit all 10 of the state's districts, dropped in at the White House for a chat and logged about 25,000 travel miles.

Most observers conceded Dalton, 52, was running well. But few predicted he would run well enough to win.

A heavy turnout—close to 400,000 compared with the 269,000 record of 1929—was expected at the polls. The key factor seemed to be how the anti-Byrd Democrats would vote.

Light Vote Expected

By contrast, New York's mayoral campaign — hot and heavy since the starting whistle—was expected to bring out only a relative trickle. Registration is 2,396,099, and the vote may drop below two million for the first time since 1945.

Contesting for the $40,000-a-year post, along with Republican Riegelman, are Democrat Robert F. Wagner Jr., and Liberal Rudolph Halley.

Wagner, 44-year old son of the late senator who wrote the original New Deal's labor relations act of 1935, is the heavy betting favorite. The New York Daily News poll—never wrong before in mayoral elections—gave him a 2-1 edge over Riegelman, with Halley a poor third.

Halley, 40, is best known nationally for his work as examiner of underworld big shots for the televised Senate crime hearings a few years back.

Wagner won the Democratic primary Sept. 15 by almost 2-1 over the incumbent, Vincent R. Impellitteri.

Wagner's backers include former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee for president. In the 61-year-old Riegelman's corner, along with Eisenhower, is New York's Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Apathy Marks N.Y. City Fight For Mayoralty

NEW YORK (AP)—A new mayor of New York was being elected today, after a bitter and costly campaign that failed to excite the voters.

Gone forever apparently were the torch light parades, the thunder of massed thousands in great arenas, the intimate "I promise you" of the street corner rally.

In their place was the television candidate for mayor, theatrically made up and carefully pronouncing campaign promises and charges from the remote and sterile depths of the small silver screen.

Should Know by Midnight

The polls are open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. (EST). A quick machine count should be over before midnight.

Fair and mild weather was forecast for today.

The campaign wound up last night as the three major candidates made their final bids for the 4-year, $40,000-a-year top spot in City Hall—the nation's second biggest political job. Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri was beaten in the Democratic primary six weeks ago.

His successor, the city's third mayor in less than four years, will be one of these three.

Democratic—Robert F. Wagner Jr., 44, a New Dealer and son of the late Senate author of the original New Deal's Labor Relations Act of 1935. Wagner, heavily favored to win, is the $25,000-a-year president of the Borough of Manhattan.

Acting Postmaster

Republican—Harold Riegelman, 61, a veteran civic worker and student of municipal housing and economics, and acting postmaster for three months early this year.

Liberal—Rudolph Halley, 40, who made a national name for himself as examiner of underworld bigshots for the old Kefauver Senate Crime Committee. The longshot in the present race, he won the $25,000-a-year city council presidency in 1951 as a Liberal Party candidate. He is a registered Democrat.

Registration this year is 2,396,099 and the vote may drop below two million for the first time since 1945—a tipoff to public apathy in

Ohio's Turnout Expected To Be Over 2 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 2¼ million Ohioans are expected to jam the state's polling booths today to express their opinions on a multitude of issues ranging from segregation to education.

A warm weather forecast backs Secretary of State Ted Browns' prediction that this off-year election will be one of Ohio's busiest. Polls opened at 6:30 a.m. and will close at 6:30 p.m.

Voting citizens will have plenty to think about. On the ballot today are mayoralty contests, bond issues, levies and nine state constitutional amendments.

It's the amendments that lend variety to the voters' election menu.

Key Issues

Votes will decide, among other things:

1. Whether a state board of education or the governor should name the director of education.

2. Whether Ohioans should pay as they go or pledge future funds to improve highways.

3. Whether non-Caucasians also should be permitted in the state militia.

On the city and community level, balloting will be on local bond issues, tax levies—most of them on school matters—local prohibition, and mayoral contests.

Koreans Deal Communists Serious Blow

Over 96 Per Cent of POWs Are Unshaken By Red Interviewers

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Tough, jaunty Korean prisoners of war rejected Communism today by more than 96 per cent, turning Red efforts to win them home into a taunting, cursing attack on Communist interviewers.

The prisoners easily dominated the interview sessions.

The explanations ended in less than six hours with only 19 of 483 interviewed choosing to return to North Korea.

General Depressed

A North Korean general observing the operation sank down on a sunny bench, his grey, gold and scarlet uniform glittering in the sun, and glumly held his head.

The interviews began after the Reds had made loudspeaker broadcasts to the North Koreans, only to have them drowned out in a roar of yells and singing from the POWs.

Meanwhile, the Allies moved to break a deadlock in the preliminary Korean peace talks. U. S. envoy Arthur Dean suggested a discussion of U. N. and Communist agendas with "the understanding that no agreement will be final until we have a meeting of minds on all."

Reds Delay Reply

The Reds, after telling Dean he had proposed nothing new, said they would think it over and reply Wednesday.

Dean told newsmen he still believes an agreement will be worked out on arrangements for a Korean political conference.

More prisoner interviews were scheduled Wednesday—these with Chinese.

The Korean prisoners in Tuesday's interviews followed the pattern already set by more than 900 Chinese and almost 500 Koreans interviewed earlier. The Red batting average has been only about 3 per cent for the total.

Many of the prisoners in the latest group were from the compound G48, which threw the explanations into a two-week deadlock Oct. 16, when the POWs threatened a mass breakout if the Indians tried to use force to take them to the interviews.

Trees Trimmed in Try To End Bird Nuisance

Marion County commissioners this morning were serving eviction notices on the scores of birds which have inhabited Courthouse trees this fall.

Tree branches were being trimmed closely in an effort to rid the trees of the birds. Cutting down the trees has been suggested to commissioners by some residents, but commissioners hope the trimming will solve the problem.

Opens Parliament

Britain To Seek World Peace, Queen Promises

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II opened the fall session of Parliament today with a pledge that the resources and wealth of the vast British Commonwealth of nations would be thrown into the battle for world peace.

Among the top objectives of her government, she declared in her traditional speech from the throne at the start of the third session of the present Parliament, would be an "early meeting between the Soviet Union and the three Western powers."

Outlines Policy

The young queen outlined the policy of Prime Minister Churchill's government.

She read the address in the House of Lords before all members of both houses of Parliament.

The queen declared "my government will continue to regard the relaxation of international tension and the preservation of peace as prime objectives of their policy."

She outlined these objectives of the Churchill government:

1. An early Big Four meeting. The speech did not specify, however, whether this should be on the foreign ministers' level—to which the Soviet Union already has been invited—or among the heads of states, as envisioned by Churchill.

2. Strengthening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Austrian Treaty

3. Continued efforts for the "conclusion of an Austrian state (Independence) treaty" and for a "settlement of the problem of German unity, in conjunction with the governments of France and the United States and in consultation with the German federal government."

4. ". . . Hope for a renewal of those friendly relations which have been traditional between this country and Persia (Iran) and for an early resumption of normal diplomatic relations between the two countries."

'All or Nothing' Korean Peace Plan Is Offered

Reds To 'Think Over' Dean's Proposal on Conference Agenda

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur Dean today suggested a new "all or nothing" formula for arranging a Korean peace Conference. The Reds first said the proposal contained nothing new, then promised to study it overnight.

Briefly, Dean proposed a discussion of all points offered by both sides with "the understanding that no agreement will be final until we have a meeting of minds on all."

Offers to Bargain

Dean told the Reds that if they would discuss all issues on both agendas he would exchange views over who should be invited to the full-scale negotiations.

The U. N. Assembly authorized Dean only to fix a time and place for political conference. Several times since the preliminary talks opened Oct. 26 he has offered to listen to Red demands that a number of neutrals be seated—after a time and place are set.

The Communists insist that composition of the parley be decided first.

Dean opened the session by telling the Reds the world dislikes "this bickering" and proposed as a suitable date for the conference either Dec. 1 or four weeks after the preliminary talks end.

Willing to Listen

Then he suggested his new formula and added:

"I am quite willing to exchange views again on the composition which we thought had already been decided in an agreement (the Korean armistice) signed by both sides."

The Reds called a 30-minute recess to discuss the proposal. They later asked a 30-minute extension.

Republicans Wary Of Benson's Action

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee moved today to step up its activity among farmers, and the Eisenhower administration counted upon time to erase heated opposition to a controversial shakeup of the Agriculture Department.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, author of the reorganization, ordered it into immediate effect yesterday in the face of requests from some members to Congress to defer action. He said he had President Eisenhower's approval, but further protests seemed certain.

Heads Farm Activities

Rod Kreger of Watertown, S. D., who has been a consultant to Benson, was named director of farm activities for the GOP National Committee. Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Kreger will work at headquarters here "to assist in stimulation of greater activity on the agricultural front."

Some Republican members of Congress have been contending that farmer unrest in the face of falling farm prices may cost the GOP control of Congress next year.

Kreger is a former associate editor of The Farmer, published at St. Paul, Minn. He has done public relations work for the South Dakota Republican State Central Committee and for a time was secretary to Rep. Lovre (R-SD).

Benson, who has become something of a political storm center, told the Southern Governors Conference at Hot Springs, Va., last night the administration is going to ask the states to take over some of the burden of helping farmers.

Who Has the Money?

His talk was not interrupted by applause, and several governors, in talking with reporters, immediately asked: "where will we get the money?"

As for Benson's departmental shakeup, opposition has been directed chiefly to abolition of seven Soil Conservation Service regional offices, which have provided jobs for about 1,000 persons.

Power to undo the reroganization program rests only with Congress, which will not be back in session until January. By that time, the reorganization will largely have been completed.

And even should Congress take steps to nullify the shakeup, such legislation would face a possible presidential veto.

The Soil Conservation Service, set up in 1935, aims at a rounded program of soil and water conservation and land use. Its technicians outline and help farmers put into effect such practices as contouring, strip cropping, terracing, farm drainage and irrigation and crop rotation.

Eligible for Subsidies

Farmers who carry out such practices are eligible for federal subsidies, but these subsidies are paid out through another branch of the Agriculture Department.

The soil conservation work is carried on through approximately 2,000 conservation districts, organized with local officials under state laws. Farmers apply to these districts for technical, material and equipment aid.

Chief opposition to the reorganization has come from Waters S. Davis Jr. of League City, Tex., president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. He contends it will result in eventual control of conservation work by state extension services, which in some states are closely associated with the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation.

Benson said the program is designed to make the conservation program "more efficient administratively and more effective in rendering service."

Comment on Benson's action among governors and congressmen was sharply divided. Criticism came mostly from Democrats, although a few Republicans expressed displeasure.

Benson Finds Southerners Polite but Cool

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson says farm prices—but probably not Farm income—may still be falling next year when the Republicans will be struggling to hold their control of Congress.

The beleaguered cabinet member predicted last night that farm prices and farm costs will both be dropping. He said he believes that overall "the retreat of farm prices and farm incomes has . . . been stopped." Farm prices have generally been falling for over a year and a half.

Benson spoke to the state dinner of the Southern Governors Conference. He got an ovation when introduced, and when he ended his talk, but during it his hearers sat on their hands.

"Next year farm prices may decline slightly but farm costs also are expected to dip downward," Benson said. "To sum it up—the supply and demand situation and also the price and income situations offer encouragement."

Benson also told the Dixie governors the Eisenhower Administration will ask the states to shoulder a greater load in dealing with farm problems. Several of the governors wondered aloud where the money would come from.

Blaze Fourth In 17 Days at Busy Harbor

Chemical Explosion In Freighter's Hold Traps Longshoremen

BOSTON (AP)—The fourth Boston Harbor ship fire in 17 days swept the Norwegian freighter Black Falcon after a violent explosion yesterday, leaving a toll of seven dead and 18 injured.

The dead and injured were longshoremen working deep in an aft hold unloading chemicals at the Army Base, 200 yards from where the aircraft carrier Leyte was berthed when it was rocked by an explosion that killed 37 men Oct. 16.

Flames Soar 200 Feet

The seven victims either were killed outright by the blast or burned to death by the roaring fire which shot flames 200 feet feet in the air.

The victims included a father and son—Anthony Bensaia, 53, and Alvin L. Bensaia, 24—who were working their first day as longshoremen.

At least five saved themselves by jumping overboard after their clothing caught fire.

The work gang in the hold consisted of 21 men but Robert J. Flaherty, 18, had left the ship only moments before to get coffee for his co-workers.

In addition to those killed and injured in the hold, five fire-fighters suffered burns that required hospital attention. At least a score other rescue workers were treated at the scene for burns and smoke inhalation.

Sodium Peroxide Reaction

Edward F. Montgomery, chief of the Boston Fire Department's arson squad, said after a preliminary survey that he believed a drum of sodium peroxide apparently was stowed "too near the boilers" and that the heat caused some of the chemical to leak out and mix with bauxite—aluminum ore—stored in the same hold.

He said when the mixture began to smolder, one of the men threw a pail of water onto it and caused "a violent chemical reaction."

The Coast Guard called together a court of inquiry to investigate the disaster beginning today.

None of the Black Falcon's crew of 40 was injured. The ship's master, K. Langballe, 44, of Shelbourne, Australia, was at the customs house obtaining clearance for the vessel to leave for Philadelphia.

Died Saving Others

Survivors said one of the victims, David McConnell, 51, gave his life in saving others.

Fellow worker Jack Crowley, 36, of Quincy, said he saw McConnell pull "four or five" men to safety, and added: "Then I saw him split his head open on the bulkhead. His clothing and hair caught fire."

Crowley said he saw McConnell stagger to the rail and plunge over-

Private Interests Finance Free Circulation of Report on Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Private individuals and organizations are helping the Senate internal security subcommittee to finance free distribution of its report on "Interlocking Subversion in Government Departments."

A spokesman for the subcommittee, headed by Sen Jenner (R-Ind) said today he could not name the donors nor say how much they have contributed to pay for printing copies of the 50-page report.

However, figures he gave indicated that the printing of more than 85 000 copies has been privately financed.

The report was published late in August after hearings into the way Communist agents infiltrated the executive and legislative branches of the government.

To date the subcommittee has distributed 111 000 copies.

In addition, the report caught the fancy of the Republican National Committee. A spokesman said it had purchased 50,000 copies and has sent them to party leaders throughout the county — "even down to the county level."

In the report, the internal security subcommittee pieced together accumulated evidence and testimony about Communist penetration in the government, from the early 1930s on.

It concluded that Soviet agents have carried on a successful and important penetration of the government, from the lower ranks to top-level policy posts, and that "this penetration has not been fully exposed."

For three weeks or so after publication of the report, the subcommittee received sacksful of mail requesting copies. Requests are coming in now at a rate of about 50 a day.

Marion Stamp Society To Hear Guest Speaker

John Howard Thompson, a past president of the Columbus Philatelic Society will be the guest speaker for a meeting of the Harding Philatelic Society, Thursday in the YMCA. His topic will be "Simon Bolivar" on stamps. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

A group of members from the Columbus society will accompany the speaker here. The meeting will be open to anyone interested in stamps. The Marion Society is planning an auction of postage stamps for collectors on Nov. 19 in the club's quarters at the Y. Members and friends are invited to attend.

The first meeting in October was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Connor on S. State St. At this time the club was entertained with pictures of a trip to Europe taken by Mr. and Mrs. Connor last summer. For the second meeting in October, held at the Y, guests included a number of collectors.

Fail To Agree on Policy

Tariff Commission Runs Into Trouble

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—In less than a year President Eisenhower has set up a dozen or so committees, commissioners, advisory groups, boards and panels to help his administration fix policies and programs.

Outstanding men have been appointed to study such national and international problems as agriculture and foreign trade and then suggest what to do for the best interest of the country.

That's the theory, but Eisenhower may be in as much of a dilemma after one of these groups finishes its task as before. That's because of a couple questions that were there before he called in these advisers:

1. Can any man who considered a problem for years and probably formed pretty positive opinions now look at it with an open mind just because the President asked him to?

2. And what is the "best interest of the United States?" Granting that all members of a commission are sincere, there can still be a wide difference among them on what's good for the country.

Such a difference appears in one of the most important advisory groups—the 17-man commission on foreign economic policy — long before it has finished its job.

Its main job is studying the Reciprocal Trade Act, which means telling Eisenhower and Congress whether tariffs on foreign goods coming here to compete with American products should be higher or lower. This 1934 act gives the President authority to lower tariffs brought here in exchange for lower tariffs on American goods exported to countries sending products here.

The chairman of this tariff study commission—Clarence B. Randall, chairman of the board of the Inland Steel Co.—has been quoted as telling his commission colleagues he was attempting to preserve an open mind and as urging them to do the same.

In a book, "Freedom's Faith," published Oct. 27, Randall said America's traditionally high tariff policy "must steadily yield to the imperative new necessity for broadened world trade."

The word "bias" was flung at him almost instantly by a committee representing a number of industries, trade associations and farm and labor groups which want higher tariffs because, they say, they're being hurt by imports made more cheaply.

This organization passed a resolution calling on Eisenhower to fire Randall from the trade commission. About the same time, another member of Randall's group, Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa), gave his views.

Simpson said: "certainly we are not going to enact any proposal which will admit a flood of imports. On the other hand, in my opinion, we are going to give the protection to our own hard-pressed domestic industries."

Ten of the 17 men on Randall's commission are from Congress, five senators and five House members. Their views on tariffs were known before they were named to the commission. Some want higher tariffs, some lower ones.

Simpson, for instance, fought hard this year to put through a bill making it tougher for the President to lower tariffs. Another member of the commission, who supported him, is Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), chairman of the ways and means committee which handles tariff legislation.

There is some question whether Eisenhower himself can be said to have an open mind on tariffs. He has repeatedly advocated more world trade. Higher tariffs would cut down this country's part in such trade, not increase it.

Eisenhower will probably get two reports from the Randall commission, one urging tougher tariffs, the other wanting tariffs cut. Then he'll have to decide which one to recommend to Congress. In the end, no matter what he says, Congress will give the final answer.

Cellars Most Common Scene of Home Fires

BOSTON (UP)—Most house fires start in the cellar, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co.

An institute survey showed the kitchen ranks No. 2 as a home firebreeder, followed by bedrooms, parlors and living rooms, hallways, closets and finally attics.

In the basement, a defect in the furnace or other parts of the heating system is the most frequent cause of fires.

District Forestry Office for Central Ohio Is Organized

The Ohio Division of Forestry has opened a new farm forestry district in central Ohio with headquarters at 75½ N. Sandusky St. in Delaware. Services from this office will be available to Delaware, Franklin, Licking, Knox, Madison, Marion and Morrow counties.

Burl S. Ashley is the forester in charge of the new district. He formerly was in charge of the Caldwell district.

Services offered by the farm forestry program consist of assistance to timberland owners and wood-using industries throughout the area.

Services offered include: assistance with reforestation problems, analysis and management recommendations for woodlands which are already established, assistance with insect and disease problems, choosing and marking trees which are ready to be harvested, estimating the volumes of the harvestable trees, giving marketing information concerning woodland products, assistance with utilization problems and supplying information to the wood-using industries relative to the availability of supplies of timber.

The only prerequisites for this free assistance is an interest in good forest management and the willingness of the landowner to work with the forester in the woodland, a Forestry Division announcement said.

Hunt Waste Spending

Probers Check Armed Services Fiscal Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) today marked down for further investigation the Army's practice of having a military man as its comptroller or chief financial officer.

Flanders, head of an armed services subcommittee checking into the way the Pentagon spends the government's defense billions, told newsmen this seemed "most un-businesslike" to him.

He announced that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens would be recalled for further questioning about it tomorrow.

Stevens, flanked by his comptroller, Lt. Gen. George H. Decker, defended the setup at a hearing yesterday. But two New York business executives, who served as experts for the 1949 Hoover Commission on defense organization, testified that all three armed service comptrollers should be civilians, as the comptroller for the Defense Department now is.

Meanwhile, the subcommittee today called Secretary of the Navy Robert B. Anderson and Asst. Secretary of the Air Force H Lee White to talk about their fiscal problems.

Secretary of Defense Wilson is to appear at an afternoon session.

The Air Force has a lieutenant general as comptroller. In the Navy the post is held by an assistant secretary who also has other duties.

Two men who supported the idea of civilian comptrollers in all three services were Ferdinand Eberstadt, investment banker, and Franz Schneider, a mining company executive.

Eberstadt helped draft the 1947 Armed Services' Unification Act and a 1949 amendment sponsored by Sen. Byrd (D-Va) and designed to put the Pentagon's financial affairs on a businesslike basis. The Flanders subcommittee is looking into the workings of this amendment.

Eberstadt testified yesterday he felt the Korean War ammunition shortages might have been cleared up more quickly if the Army had had a civilian comptroller.

He and Schneider both said the comptrollers should be civilians, should have no other duties, and should report directly to the secretary in their service. The Army and Air Force comptrollers now report to their respective chiefs of staff as well as their secretaries.

Flanders told reporters the disagreement about the comptrollers was one of the key points before his subcommittee. But he said he was even more interested in improved acounting and inventory practices in the armed services.

"Congress appropriated almost 75 billion dollars between the end of World War II and 1949, yet we were short of almost everything when war came in Korea," he said "Now we can't even find out what became of that money."

Defense spending now is running at a rate above 40 billion dollars a year.

Albuquerque Oilman's Estate Set at $4,250,022

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The estate of Ellis A Hall, Albuquerque oilman who died in an Alaska plane crash has been set at $4,250,022.11. The appraisal was filed in probate court yesterday.

Hall, his wife, two daughters and 17-year-old Patrick Hibben were killed in the plane crash Aug. 17. The plane apparently disintegrated in the air after being buffeted by strong winds.

Senator Rips A-Bomb Base In Spain Plan

Premature, Declares Green; Says Details Should Be Withheld

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Theodore F. Green (D-RI) today sharply criticized the announcement that the U. S. Air Force plans to store atomic bombs in Spain.

Green, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, termed that statement by Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott "another example of people on the administration talking too much and prematurely."

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), in a separate interview, said "I fear we may be compromising ourselves" in foreign policy toward Franco Spain on the one hand, and the Tito government of Communist Yugoslavia on the other.

Talbott told a news conference in Madrid yesterday the U. S. Air Force eventually will store supplies of atomic bombs in Spain, to have them ready for use against "a common enemy" But it will be done, he added, only if the Spanish government agrees. He said any use of atomic weapons by Spanish forces "is not in the picture at the present time," but will be the subject of negotiations.

Talbott and Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, are in Spain to study sites for five proposed airbases for joint use by U. S and Spanish planes An agreement for U S bases in Spain was signed recently after prolonged negotiations

"I think we are getting into very deep water," Sen Green said "It seems to me, without regard to other serious questions involved, the secretary has made a great mistake in telling so much at this time unless he is going to tell more It looks like a case of his talking prematurely, before an agreement is reached"

Gen. Marshall Enters Hospital for Checkup

Rep. Polk Urges AEC To Build Atomic Reactor in Pike County

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Polk (D—Ohio) today urged the government to build its first atomic reactor near the atomic plant under construction in Pike County, Ohio

In a letter to Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission, Polk said labor had a better record at the Ohio project than at the atomic plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky

The AEC last month announced plans to build its first full-scale atomic reactor, which would produce electric energy. AEC Commissioner Thomas Murray indicated it probably would be built near either Pike County, Oak Ridge or Paducah. The project would cost "tens of millions of dollars," he said

Polk discussed the subject with Strauss before going on tour with the House Agriculture Committee and said he thoufht Strauss was favorably impressed with his arguments.

Other advantages Polk listed for southern Ohio were two high voltage lines leading from the Ohio Valley Electric Corp. power plant at Madison, Ind., to the Pike County atomic plant. These lines will cross Adams, Brown, Clermont and Pike counties, Polk said, adding that there were good possible locations for the reactor in all four of those counties.

Polk also said the southern part of his Sixth Ohio District has long been "distressed" economically. For many years young people there have had to look elsewhere for jobs, he added.

He also said Portsmouth is "deeply interested" in having the reactor in Scioto County. Polk said the people of Portsmouth are making an "exceptionally fine" record in finding homes for workers on the Pike County atomic project.

Western State Governors Cite Mine Problem

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Life or death of the nation's metal mining industry rests in the legislative lap of Congress, Western governors contend.

They are concerned over ability of the mines to produce in the event of a war emergency.

"This is an issue which must be faced squarely by Congress and the sooner the better," asserts Colorado's Gov. Dan Thornton.

"It is inevitable that Congress must solve this critical problem and I believe Congress is willing," said Arizona's Gov. Howard Pyle.

Metal mining — its increasing shutdowns, labor relations, unemployment problem and foreign imports—occupy the attention of governors of 11 Western states and Hawaii during the final day of the Western governors conference today.

Thousands of men have been thrown out of work in Western states in recent shutdowns of mines, principally those producing lead and zinc. The chief executives are concerned over the effect on national security.

Thornton said "thousands" are out of work in his state because of the 'impossibility of our mines to compete' with a market "where in some cases we pay foreign nations more than domestic producers."

There is "quite a hardship in zinc and lead producing areas' in Nevada, said Gov. Charles H. Russell.

Governors of other mining states previously have expressed concern over the crisis, but noted with some satisfaction prices are firming up and imports are dropping

4-H Members, Parents Guests of Martel Grange

At an achievement night recently, Martel 4-H boys and girls and their parents were guests of Martel Grange.

Members of the clubs were introduced by their respective presidents, Miss Charlotte Stevens and Philip Leathem, and 4-H certificates, pins and money from the recent Marion County fair were presented each member. Miss Patricia Malo, secretary of the Martel Future Farmers Club, reviewed the years' work of the club.

Parents of the 4-H members were introduced. Miss Jane Landes told of her demonstration on "The Proper Setting of the Table" and showed the trophy she was awarded. A piano duet was played by Jewell and Larry Grimes.

Two applications for membership in the Grange were read. Refreshments were served by the Home Economics committee and volleyball was played by the young people.

It was announced that a volley ball tournament would be held after the business meeting Nov. 10.

Sen. Anderson Says Soil Offices Closing Mistake

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Sen Anderson (D-NM) says he believes Secretary of Agriculture Benson "will be sorry" he has decided to close regional soil conservation offices.

An outspoken critic of the plan, Anderson—who is also a former secretary of agriculture—said he feels time will show the regional offices "were the spark plugs of the whole soil conservation program."

"I believe the soil conservation program will diminish with the closing of the regional offices," he said.

Admiral Says He's Biggest Tall Tale Teller in Services

MCALESTER, Okla (AP) — Adm. Apollo Soucek, here for a speaking engagement, says he has the reputation of being one of the biggest tall-tale tellers in the armed forces.

It all dates back to a 1948 lawn party at McAlester.

"I was standing there talking, my hands folded behind me, when I felt something warm and moist nuzzling me," the admiral said.

"I yankes my hand away and ripped the little finger open. It bled profusely. A baby deer had wandered up and apparently had mistaken my finger for one of its mother's meal tickets."

He said the story is true. The deer came from the U. S. naval ammunition depot reservation here.

Assistant to President Named by Lake Central

Dr. R B. Stewart, president of Lake Central Airlines, announced today the appointment of G w i n Hicks as special assistant to the president.

A former Empire Airlines executive, Hicks has been associated with aviation management since 1930.

During his 23 years in aviation, he has served as administrative assistant to L V. Morrow, Washington state's first aeronautical director, and as a member of aviation advisory committee for the governors of both Idaho and Washington. His flying schools were under contract to both the Navy and the Air Force during World War II.

As one of the organizers of Empire Airlines, Inc, he served with the company from its inception in 1944 until its merger with West Coast Airlines in 1952.

Lake Central Airlines serves Marion and a number of other Ohio and Indiana cities.

Mt. Victory Children Collect Halloween Cash

MT. VICTORY — One hundred children participated in the collection of approximately $55 as a part of their "trick or treat" celebration here over the Halloween weekend.

The money will go to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund to purchase food for undernourished children of the world.

The Lions Club, Victory Child Study Club, M.d - Century Child Study Club, Worthy Mothers Club, American Legion Auxiliary, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, the Ladies Aid of the Church of Christ and school faculty sponsored the Halloween party, watch consisted of the children collecting the money, then meeting in the school auditorium where they were entertertained with games and treats.

400 Prisoners Go on Bender At Walla Walla

WALLA WALLA, Wash (AP)—All was quiet at the Washington State Penitentiary last night.

It should have been.

Some 400 convicts were snoozing off the effects of a weekend bender on sleeping pills.

Warden John Cranor tells this story.

Inmate employes of the penitentiary's warehouse got curious Saturday when a shipment of war surplus hospital supplies arrived. They happened to open a box containing 40,000 Nebutal tablets.

They passed 10,000 pills around to other convicts and, as one guard put it

"By Monday morning the whole prison population had rubber legs. A man would be walking down the sidewalk and fall flat on his face.

"We put them in wing one until there just got to be too many of them."

A shakedown by prison guards, Cranor said, turned up most of the pills not gobbled down by the prisoners or flushed down the toilets just prior to the shakedown.

It is estimated that 27,000 cubic miles of water fall as precipitation each year on the world's land areas.

Energetic Thief Steals Auto Without Engine

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP)—David Brown is sure it isn't worth the effort, and police are looking for a thief with a strong back.

Brown told Sheriff Norman Short yesterday how he removed the engine from his 1942 car, lugged it down to the basement and started making repairs.

An hour later Brown went back out to his engmles car.

It had been stolen.

Bee Flies in Window, Driver Loses Control

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Mrs. Virginia Velarde was a passenger in a truck when a bee lit on her. Her husband, Zacharias Velarde, the driver, made an unsuccessful grab for the elusive stinger.

Velarde lost control of the truck. The truck hit an electric pole—splitting it.

It careened into a house and finally came to a standstill against an adobe wall.

No serious injuries were suffered.

Burglar Alarm Is Homemade but It Nabs 3 Ex-Convicts

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A homemade burglar alarm was responsible for the arrest yesterday in a church attic here of three ex-convicts.

Soon after their arrest, the three men—Jesse G Ropre, 20, Aubrey D Morrison, 23, and Joseph A. English Tierron, — admitted four robberies and two attempted robberies.

The homemade alarm was devised and installed by J. M. Thomas, 55, caretaker of the Trinity Baptist Church, where the trio was hiding.

Although India was a British possession for 150 years, only about 300,000 Indians among the nation's 350 million people speak or write English.

Viewing the Results

Today you vote, tomorrow you view the results.

After each election there are people who moan that their vote was useless and others who claim they voted for all the winners

The first person needs to be congratulated for helping to make our democracy work. He voted for his candidate regardless of the little chance he felt he had.

This is necessary to keep our system going. If we stay away from the polls because our candidate hasn't a chance or don't bother to vote for an issue because everyone seems to be against it we aren't protecting ourselves.

So long as we go to the polls and vote—express our opinion on candidates and issues—we are doing our right as citizens, we are making democracy work.

The fellow who voted for all the winners may have done so by honest decision, but chances are he looked over the ballot and "played the favorites."

What good did his vote do? Elections shouldn't be popularity contests in which you vote for a person because he is a favorite. Vote for a candidate because he is best for that particular office. The favorite might be the poorest man running for office.

Tonight and tomorrow when the results are viewed look at them from a standpoint of whether they are good for the community, not whether you scored 100 per cent in picking the winners.

If you voted honestly and conscientiously chances are you didn't lick all the winners but you did vote for democracy and our way of life.

Curious, but No Big Demand

If you have put your order in to Santa Claus for a color TV set this Christmas you may get your wish—but you'd better fill your stocking with greenbacks before he arrives.

A closed-circuit demonstration of color television by the National Broadcasting Co. this week designed to show the "practicability of coast-to-coast telecasts in full color and the ability to receive these programs in black and white on present sets"

Since the advent of television, the public has been sitting back waiting for color—and for several years, legal squabbles have held back firms from taking positive steps toward providing color TV

But not it seems to be just around the corner, though it likely will be another two years before it will be cheap enough for the great mass of the American purchasing public.

Industry spokesmen point out that the first color sets will retail for about $750 to $1 000 with only 14-inch screens. With black and white sets with 27-inch screens available for less than $300, it seems doubtful that mass buying of black and white will decline much until color really proves itself and comes down the price ladder.

More than 25 million standard sets are now in use in the United States with TV aerials sprouting out from all types of housing settlements — cellar homes, trailers, barracks. How many of these persons are going to flock to the store and trade in their sets just so they can see an occasional color telecast.

Color TV may be ready for delivery by Santa, but it'll still be some time till it will burden him with its demand.

A Year for Taxes

Taxpayers in Ohio had it easy in 1953 compared to those in many other states, there being only 35 tax law changes written into the records this year.

Thirty-five may seem like a lot, but many of these changes effected by the state legislature were minor revisions, according to tabulations compiled by the Commerce Clearing House, Inc.

Across the country there was an all-time record of 2,868 tax law changes, nearly twice the number made in 1951, the previous high year

This bears out a continuing complaint by states of a need for more funds on the state level.

But be heartened, all changes weren't the type that added to the tax burden—some states showed a downward trend, and in addition to Ohio six other more populous states listed comparatively few changes

Setting the pace with 182 changes was Florida, with Minnesota, 176, and California, 167, close behind

Maryland, Idaho, New York and South Dakota cut personal income taxes and Iowa made a temporary deduction permanent. Delaware, however, raised its income levy. Maryland also reduced its franchise tax on savings bank deposits but voted to extend existing corporation taxes and hike the gasoline tax.

Others increasing gasoline revenues included Ohio. California, Iowa and Nebraska Pennsylvania put into effect a new sales tax.

Little Rhode Island was low among the states with only 10 changes recorded. Louisiana had only one but that was in a special session, there being no regular legislature session scheduled Kentucky, Mississippi and Virginia legislatures didn't meet, so recorded no changes.

Army Careers Shunned

By David Lawrence

U.N. Gag Undermines Morale of Military Forces

Military men hereabouts are wondering why reenlistments are so few and why officers aren't choosing a career in the armed services, and why morale is low.

Maybe the answer is to be found in the lack of forthrightness by so many of our military officers of high rank, who seem to have come to believe that if the Department of State, under Secretary Acheson or anybody else, tells them to suppress the truth from the American people about the way our soldiers have been treated by the enemy, they must keep silent and do nothing about it.

How much longer will American boys be drafted and ordered to fight, while the use of weapons and military tactics are dictated by diplomats here and overseas?

This question deserves a congressional investigation, if indeed chairmen of armed services committees have the temerity to expose the mistakes of bureaucracy.

THE FACTS that have come out show that on November 15, 1951, Col. Hanley, then section chief in the office of the judge advocate general of the Eighth Army in Korea, issued a statement charging that the Communists had killed or starved to death tens of thousands of prisoners of war of all nationalities, including about 6,000 American soldiers.

A furor ensued in Washington and London. Why wasn't Hanley censured? Some U.N. ambassadors wanted to know if the report was issued to delay the truce talks. Gen Ridgway, commander in chief in the Far East, said it wasn't Hanley's responsibility to issue the report, but he did say that it was possible that more than 6,000 Americans listed as missing may have been captured and killed by the Communists. Finally, on November 27, 1951, Gen. Ridgway admitted the total of Americans killed in atrocities as numbering 6,270 Last week the official American total was placed at 6,113.

President Truman was reported at the time of the Hanley episode to be checking into the matter. Several senators and members of the House—Democrats and Republicans—demanded that something be done about it. But nothing was done.

THE TRUMAN administration remained silent. This was not surprising because Mr. Truman had removed from command in Korea Gen. MacArthur, who had warned the Communists he would hold their leaders personally responsible for the atrocities.

Bowing to the demands of the British and other members of the U.N., the Truman administration—even though knowing early in 1951 a good deal about the atrocities—had refused to allow the U N. forces to pursue the enemy to the Yalu or to bombard their bases of supply beyond the border, though this was territory controlled by the enemy fighting us.

Since then the Communists have had nothing to fear from any U N. military retaliation—for it was publicly announced in effect that there would be none.

THIS CORRESPONDENT on November 15, 1951, wrote in these dispatches

"What the Chinese Communists have done in murdering 5 790 United Nations prisoners and tens of thousands of Korean civilians would seem to deserve a denunciation so severe that no new government in China would ever be admitted to the U N. or to the family of nations until those Chinese responsible for the Korean crimes are punished. . .

"If some anti-Communist regime does some day win military supremacy, the American government and other governments, before extending recognition, might well demand as a first condition the execution of the Communist leaders who permitted the Korean atrocities to happen. . .

"The Communists haven't many U.N. prisoners left to give back, and now that the facts are revealed, a breaking off in truce negotiations would not be surprising.

"There isn't much to negotiate, with an enemy guilty of such barbarism that it violates all humane rules. Such an enemy's word on a truce agreement would be valueless."

THERE WAS a long break in the truce negotiations later on, but the Eisenhower administration, accepting the Truman doctrine of a localized operation with inhibitions on military action, finally agreed in the spring of 1953 to the terms of a truce

Pussyfoot diplomacy was the controlling influence. The Communists lied about the number of wounded prisoners they had, and they have been breaking the truce agreement in other respects ever since

Small wonder that American boys don't want to be drafted and that young men in the Army see no career ahead—when the State Department offers them up as sacrifices in a "local" war and refuses to allow maximum military force to be used to defend them.

Small wonder that the U.N. is daily losing prestige inside this country, because it is so unconcerned about or indifferent to what happens to American youth in uniform.

Many of the U.N members are still talking of admitting a barbarian government to the Security Council of the U N. and they call all this "repelling aggression" and a "victory for collective security"

It is instead slowly breaking down confidence in the efficacy of international cooperation just as it did in the '20's and '30's.

That's the sure way to encourage an enemy to miscalculate the true willingness of the Western World to fight if war comes again.

How Far Can West Trust Tito?

By John Wren

BELGRADE

"Tito is a sinker, and has always been one!"

James Fulton, Republican of Pittsburgh, member of the U. S. House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee, came out with this very quotable quotation when here recently.

Hardly parliamentary language—sure to shock British MPS—but Representative Fulton certainly said a mouthful.

He went on to say, "If Military aid to Tito is not stopped at once we are simply building up a nest of vipers in our bed"

The Pittsburgher is not alone in his feelings and fears. I have recently heard them expressed (loss colorfully) in the West's chancelleries here.

Can we trust Tito? Is Communist Yugoslavia a dependable ally?

THESE QUESTIONS are frequently asked as Tito's relations with his old ally, Soviet Russia, become warmer daily—and those with the West daily more cool.

For the past year or so America has been arming Tito. For two years Britain, France and the United States have poured millions into Yugoslavia—to save Tito's tottering Communist regime from bankruptcy.

The West gave this aid, without any strings attached. But we hoped that Tito, having been booted out of the Soviet camp, would offer his war-tested divisions to help the West halt further Soviet aggression.

Today, Tito's American-equipped army is massed on his frontiers, with the West, not the East, threatening NATO-member Italy and the small (9,000) Anglo-American force in Trieste.

Ironically enough, the forces facing the Ang.o-Americans include two divisions equipped with the latest American armor. These tanks completely outnumber the U. S. tanks in Trieste.

WILL TITO ever turn his guns on the West? No one cares to guess. Americans have not forgotten the unarmed American transport airplane cold-bloodedly shot down by Tito's fighters when lost over Yugoslavia in 1946.

In Trieste military cemetery are the graves of young British soldiers shot by Tito's trigger-happy frontier guards when they strayed by error a few inches across the frontier.

Tito's recent biography records the following story: In 1944, when Tito was visiting Stalin in Moscow, a message arrived stating that the British had landed in Yugoslavia. (The message later proved to be false.)

When Stalin asked Tito what he would do if the British had landed, Tito answered "We should offer determined resistance."

At that time, of course, Britain was supplying Tito with masses of materiel, naval and air support.

Yet he would have fought the British if they had landed in German-occupied Yugoslavia!

SINCE TITO'S split with Stalin, the Yugoslav Communist dictator has frequently declared that Yugoslavia would fight if attacked by Soviet Russia or the Red satellites.

But what would Tito do today if Russia attacked the West, but not Yugoslavia? Would he fight with the West? Or just grab Trieste and other Italian territory he has so frequently demanded?

Tito recently reached a mutual defense agreement with his anti-Communist neighbors, Turkey and Greece That agreement was worked out in the days before Stalin's death. "SD" — Stalin's Death — is an important date in current Yugoslav policy.

Stalin was Tito's archenemy. After the Tito-Kremlin split only Stalin's portrait was removed in disgrace As I write this in a Belgrade hotel, the pictures of Lenin and Marx peer suspiciously over my shoulder.

Since Stalin's death—joyfully hailed in Belgrade—Soviet-Yugoslav relations have improved in a score of ways, culminating in Georgi Malenkov's overt support of Tito in his anti-Western stand over Trieste.

SMILING TOP TITO aides are welcome visitors to the Soviet Embassy these days with its new ambassador, Vassili Valkov.

The Turks and the Greeks now are asking themselves how much they could rely on Tito if Russia attacked them and not him.

As Tito's relations with the East have improved, those with the West have deteriorated to the point of stoning our embassies, destroying Anglo-American cultural libraries, manhandling westerners.

"Entrance for traitors" reads a sign over the British Library where Yugoslavs used to visit to read of British culture, art, progress in industry and modern living.

Young Communist thugs stand by to beat up any unfortunate Yugoslav now visiting these Western reading rooms.

These thugs obey the orders of their local Communist boss The supreme Communist boss here, of course, is Tito himself—the man who so recently was given a close-up of the Democratic British way of life.

Some of us in the West, impressed perhaps by Tito's magnetic personality and the Slav's bravery in World War II are inclined to forget that Tito himself a ruthless Communist rules, a complete Communist police state.

EVEN SOCIALIST Clement Attlee regretted after his visit to Yugoslavia last summer that he was "unable to meet my opposite number in Yugoslavia—the leader of the opposition"

This month there will be further "elections" in Titoland; again there will be no opposition party. It is easy to forget that hundreds of Yugoslavs risk their lives weekly to cross the frontier to the West clandestinely—and these include some of Tito's army officers.

This is a country where only a trusted few are allowed passports. Tens of thousands would give all their possessions for this valuable document, giving them freedom to quit Titoland. In short, Tito's Yugoslavia is much closer to the pattern of totalitarian Soviet Russia than any Western country.

Perhaps it is not surprising that Tito finds it easier to talk Turkey with his own kind than to understand the Democratic workings of the Western mind.

An increasing number of Westerners who have watched the Tito regime at close quarters in recent months share representative Fulton's fear of "A nest of vipers in our bed"

It Tito shows further signs of moving closer to the motherland of Communism, the West may shortly have to revise its aid policy to Comrade Tito

Stalin Forgotten Man

By JOHN WREN

BELGRADE

Stalin—such a short time ago the most hero-worshiped, glamorized human being alive—is rapidly becoming Communism's forgotten man.

Reports from Soviet Russia and the satellites show that Stalin's name is systematically erased from all official publications.

A new history is being written in Moscow to play down the role Stalin played in the history of the U.S.S.R.

A recent new history of the Soviet Communist party, published by the party's all-powerful Central Committee, mentions Lenin 67 times while Stalin is only named once That is when he is quoted as praising Lenin!

The question as to who won World War II used to be answered as follows: "The Soviet Army won because the organizer and instigator of its liberation was the greatest of all strategists and generals, Comrade Stalin. With Stalin's name in mind every soviet man fought and finally won"

The answer to the same question today makes no mention of Stalin. The war was won, according to the Russians, by the Soviet Army led by the "glorious Communist party."

A very short time ago idolizing birthday telegrams were sent from all over the world to "The Great Father," "The Great Leader," "The Greatest Man in the World," gifts ranging from racing bicycles to railway locomotives were dispatched to Moscow from the Stalin fan clubs of foreign Communist parties.

Today, only six months after his death, Stalin is on his way to being as forgotten as an unremembered silent film star.

These Smoke Screens

By MARK DANA

Much of the recent furore in the United Nations about germ warfare has been just sand thrown around promiscuously in eyes. Certain Communist sources had accused U. N. forces in Korea of using bacteriological weapons, minus specification or proof, and the United States with characteristic alertness jumped on the charge.

Yet trying to get through the United Nations a formal denunciation of the Communists who made the suggestion was made more difficult because the proposed language of denial was so strong. Terms like "lie" and "liars" were tossed around, and for the U. N. halls where people lean over backward to be punctilious and suave, such terms found little favor.

As a matter of cold fact, no responsible official of any country, including Russia, really believes that the U. N. forces spread germs in China and Kor a The charge is preposterous on its face, and already has been adequately answered in the U. N by Western and other delegations.

Russia's characteristic next move after alleging germ warfare, was to assume what she thought was the lead in asking all countries to ratify the 1925 Geneva Convention against the use of bacteriological weapons in war—a Convention which the U. S., for instance, has signed but not formally ratified.

Russia's move was obviously a pose a smoke-screen, an attention-distractor, a chance to assume a pedestal of moral leadership which usually totters when the Soviet mounts it. Also suspicious has been Russia's refusal to participate in an impartial multination investigation of the germ use she had alleged

It is such obstructionist and tangent turmoils in the U. N. which still are keeping it from fulfilling its major and highly-potential meritorious functions.

GIs More Popular

HONG KONG (AP) — American soldiers and sailors are more popular these days in British Hong Kong although more numerous than ever. That is because they are behaving better, says the Britain trade paper Far Eastern Economic Review.

A few months ago, the GI and the gob were popular mainly for the money they spent Hong Kong was a constant leave port for men serving in Korea, Japan and Okinawa. Too many U S service men in second rate cabarets figured in fights, public affronts, quarrels and rudeness. When the Korean truce was signed, the leave pace stepped up. But the services also stepped up efforts to impress their men that the conduct abroad by Uncle Sam's fighting men needed improving.

"Beat it! Scram!" said Elmer Twitchell to his wife

"Don't worry, I'm fed up with this," said the wife

"You've been getting difficult for a long time," said Elmer "You've lost that certain something. It's hard to describe."

"Humility, I suppose," snapped Mrs. Twitchell.

"Exactly," said Elmer. "You either have it or you ain't got it. Get going!"

"This breakup is pretty sudden, not that I care," said the missus

"I'd have buttered you up more and given you a better sendoff, dear, but something went wrong with my timing I love you very much. You're wonderful," declared Elmer.

"You can't rush my packing that way," insisted Mrs Twitchell "I love you, too. I adore you. I never met anybody I thought so much of, you big heel"

"I knew the first time I met you that you had talent, charm, everything," said Elmer "It's unmistakable. I realized you would go far as long as you retained your innate bashfulness."

"I know . . . the old sense of shyness," scoffed the wife

"That's it," said Elmer. "noticed it begin to disappear quite a while back and I was thinking of letting you go, but . . "

"But what" demanded Mrs. Twitchell

"I didn't think you were ready," said Mr. Twitchell.

"You're so sweet," said Mrs. Twitchell, picking up a vase and taking her windup.

"You must understand we are one big family around here," said Elmer, dodging the lamp and letting go with a five-pound bookend "We have to keep that certain homey quality. We must love each other, work together in the happiest mood and always reflect sweetness. You've got personality, charm and everything else like I said, but it's time for you build a career on your own Don't slam the door as you go out"

The wail of a baby came from the nursery.

"What's the matter with that kid now" asked Elmer.

"No humility," said the wife

"Sounds like he might even have an agent," snapped Mr. Twitchell.

New Medical Project Launched

Government Scientists Seeking To Tap Secrets of the Brain's Memory Process

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

ATLANTA (AP)—Government scientists have launched a new project striving to tap the secrets of the brain's memory process — as a by-product of a surgical operation to aid epileptics.

Dr. William H Sebrell Jr., director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), Bethesda, Md., related this to the Southern Medical Assn., whose 47th annual meeting ends today.

He cited the project as an example of the type of work being done at NIH's recently opened clinical research center.

There, selected sufferers from various major diseases are given "the best possible" treatments — but only as a part of a broader effort to improve these treatments ... and to increase science's knowledge of the basic processes of life, both in sickness and in health.

Dr. Sebrell said that in recent years an operation was developed which has shown great promise in treating psychomotor epilepsy That's a form of epilepsy which has proved much more difficult to treat with drugs than have the other two main forms of the disease.

The operation is now being performed at the clinical center he said, and affords unusual opportunities for research on the temporal lobe of the brain—site of the epileptic damage, and also believed to be the area playing a major role in the normal process of memory. The operation consists of cutting away damaged brain tissue.

Sebrell said that a Canadian scientist Dr Wilder Penfield, provided the first tipoff more than a year ago that the temporal lobe might be a big factor in the memory process, and he added:

"Our investigations are now concerned with following up this preliminary finding. We do not know which half of the temporal lobe, if not both, dominates the process of recording experience, and we are trying to find evidence of internal and surface nerve pathways responsible for memory processes."

Sebrell said similar projects have been launched in other laboratories in this country, Canada and abroad.

The NIH project will have these further objectives:

1. Improving surgical techniques and instruments used in the anti-epilepsy operation.
2. Examining and analyzing epileptic tissue cut from the brain in an attempt to determine the "chemistry" of an epileptic seizure — and perhaps develop improved drugs for combatting or preventing such attacks.
3. Increasing basic understanding of the functions of the various parts of the brain.

Diplomat's Wife Puts End to Lipstick Smears

WASHINGTON (UP) — Mme Feridun C. Erkin, wife of the Turkish ambassador, has solved the problem of what to do about the lipstick smears which women luncheon guests leave on embassy napkins.

Mme. Erskin, one of Washington's most beautiful hostesses, used to spend half an hour after each embassy party scrubbing lipstick from the fine gold embroidered linen napkins. She wouldn't trust the chore to anyone else.

Now each feminine guest finds two napkins at her place at the embassy table—the regular napkin plus a second tiny, lipstick-red napkin. Most women take the hint.

Bishop To Address District Methodists

Delegations of Methodists from Marion and the county will be among approximately 1,500 from Lima District, hearing Bishop Hazen G. Werner, returned recently from Korea, at Grace Church in Lima Thursday night. Representing the 103 churches of the denomination in the district, those who have registered for the 6 o'clock dinner make up a capacity crowd which will gather at the Lima church. Rev. Harold Kellogg, district superintendent, stated.

At the dinner, Mrs. Werner, who accompanied her husband on the trip to the Far East, will show colored pictures taken there a little more than a month ago. The Werners returned to Ohio Oct. 5 following their tour of study of missionary needs and opportunities in Korea. Visiting United Nations Armed Forces there, they talked with a number of Americans from their home state. At a mass meeting at 8, the Ohio Area bishop will discuss conditions he found in traveling about the Korean territory.

Heavy Schedule and Killing Pace Fail To Slow Up Secretary of State Dulles

By EDWARD K. NELLOR

WASHINGTON—If he continues at his present pace, John Foster Dulles will go down in history as the nation's hardest working secretary of state.

A study in diplomatic perpetual motion, Secretary Dulles' global perambulations since taking office consist of a total of 45 days spent abroad, plus a total of 19 days out of Washington on domestic problems related to diplomacy.

The question is, of course, can he keep up the pace?

Dulles, who will be 65 years old in February, hasn't uttered a word of complaint about being overworked, according to his official companions and aides.

Averaging an 11-hour workday while in Washington, the secretary of state has convinced his intimates that the need for sleep and relaxation may by a myth. Arriving at his office never later than 8:20 each morning, Dulles seldom departs before 7 o'clock in the evening.

His personal secretary, Burnita O'Day, stated with considerable awe that "Mr. Dulles doesn't even go out for lunch," and added, "darn it!" for emphasis.

HAVING TRAVELED with the secretary of state on most of his trips here and abroad, Miss O'Day is in a position to keep a sharp eye on the general welfare of her boss. She reports that his health is excellent, and that despite the pressure of his job he remains good-natured, alert and appears untroubled by his burdens.

Once aboard a plane, where he has spent so many hours since taking office, Dulles takes off his shoes, puts on slippers, removes his coat and replaces his stiff-collared shirt with one from his traveling wardrobe that is soft and comfortable.

This, however, is the only variation the secretary allows himself from office routine. He dictates, reads reports and drafts his speeches while traveling. When he does rest, sleep comes almost instantaneously and he awakens quickly, ready for business whether his rest has been one or 10 hours long.

In addition, the secretary and his wife have maintained a heavy social schedule that is part and parcel of the office he holds.

This has been heavier than it was for his predecessors for a number of reasons. The first is due to the change in administration, which always sets in motion a round robin of official and social callers from foreign embassies here. Everybody wants to have a chat with the new secretary of state and report back to their governments on the interview.

ALSO, there is the usual influx of politicians, office seekers and social lights who want to make an impact on the new administration. Many of them try to entertain the secretary and his wife and many succeed in doing so.

Visiting kings and queens and other dignitaries from abroad also demand large chunks of the secretary's time. He has to greet them at the airport, show them around the city and entertain them at dinner. The influx this year has been heavy, not only because Dulles is the new secretary of state, but because world problems and world economic conditions have opened a new era of goodwill traveling that was shut off by war and reconstruction.

A Bible reader at bedtime, Secretary Dulles possesses the faculty of dismissing official duties from his mind in order to woo sleep. He maintains that he gets his exercise by walking, which he does with lengthy steps and considerable speed. He is a nonstop talker when bent on persuasion, but a good listener as well, when seeking information from a person he knows has it.

AS TO reports that he is tiring of his job and may relinquish it to some other prominent Republican, such as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York if the latter decides not to run again for governor, his close associates say there is no evidence that he has any such thought in mind. They point out that he as always wanted to be secretary of state, that he enjoys it now that he is, and that after years in business as a corporation attorney he was and is anxious to continue in public service.

The only question in the minds of his friends and family members is whether or not he is overworking. So far, there are no signs of this—Miss O'Day says "positively none"—so it appears unlikely that a man enjoying his work and the growing confidence of the President of the United States will spend much time contemplating the deep peace of the rocking chair and retirement.

Administration To Be Tested In New Jersey

National Overtones Seen in Election Despite Local Issues

NEWARK, N J. (AP)—New Jersey voters pick a new governor and congressman today in an election that is the first statewide test of the Republican administration this year in an industrial area

Interest in the New Jersey races has been sharpened by the recent upset victory by a Democrat in Wisconsin s congressional election Wisconsin is primarily agricultural

Despite the fact that the issues in the campaign here largely involved local matters, the election is considered to have national overtones

New Jersey has had Republican governors for the past 10 years. The major party candidates, practically unknown politically, who seek the chair of Gov Alfred E Driscoll are Republican Paul L Troast and Democrat Robert B Meyner.

Troast, 58, is a wealthy contractor. Meyner, 44, is a lawyer and former state senator

A national Republican party spokesman, Sen Dirksen (R-Ill), has said that election of a Democrat now could set off a reaction resulting in a Democratic Congress to "tie the hands" of President Eisenhower

The polls opened at 7 a m (EST) and will close at 8 p m fair and pleasant weather is forecast More than 2½ million persons have registered

The national spotlight also is focused on the contest for New Jersey s sixth congressional district seat which was vacated by the resignation of Republican Clifford P. Case

Running are Republican George F Hetfield and Democrat Harrison A Williams Jr, who says he backs the policies of Case. Both Hetfield and Williams are lawyers

Among the major issues in the gubernatorial campaign were crime and corruption and boss rule Troast and Meyner wound up their campaigns last night with televised appeals for votes.

Halloween Pranks Bring On Shooting At Ostrander Farm

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — A 17-year-old Ostrander youth Ronald Graham, son of Mr and Mrs Vern Graham has been released from Jane M Case Hospital here after treatment for 37 shotgun wounds received when a Scioto Township farmer became irritated at Haloween pranks

Graham, a 1953 Scioto High School graduate was one of 10 youths making up a group which had been Halloweening along a road where a farm belonging to Ray Dillon 41, was located.

Sheriff Earl Fravel was notified at 10 p m Saturday that three cars had been driving up and down the highway and that youths had been shooting firecrackers, driving in driveways and sounding horns When the sheriff reached one of the Dillon farms he found Dillon and a brother there but the Haloween celebrants gone Dillon went down the road to another Dillon farm to see if the Halloweeners were there When Fravel started out for the scene he met Dillon coming back and learned of the shooting Dillon said the youth was standing on the far side of the highway from the farm house and that he fired the shot when the boy stepped in front of an automobile's headlights

Fravel said the shot was fired at a distance of 200 feet or more and that distance was the only thing that saved the youth from a serious wound Only three of the shots had to be removed as the rest did not penetrate deeply.

Coconut Cream Pie Is Especially Good Warm

Pie an American favorite dessert, is much less difficult to prepare than formerly Not only are packaged fillings available but also crusts In almost no time you can have a crunchy warm pie to serve that is especially good these fall days

Try this recipe for coconut crunch pie You can make it ahead of time and toast it for fifteen minutes just before serving

1 cup shredded coconut
2 tablespoons butter
1 package prepared pudding and pie filling mix (chocolate, butterscotch or vanilla)
1¾ cups milk
1 baked 8-inch pie shell
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1½ tablespoons light cream

Saute coconut in butter in saucepan until golden brown, stirring constantly Remove butter remaining in pan and half of the coconut and set aside. Add pie filling mix and milk to coconut in saucepan and cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil Remove from heat Cool only about 5 minutes, stirring once or twice Pour into pie shell and cool about 1 hour Combine reserved coconut and butter with brown sugar and cream Spread carefully over cooled pie Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F) 15 minutes, or until top is bubbly Serve warm or cold.

No Clues Turn Up On Farm Shooting

MINERVA, Ohio (AP)—Not a single good clue and no plausible motive have turned up in the fatal shooting of Orvie Haldeman, 74, at his farm house Saturday night, Sheriff Richard Beamer of Carroll County said today.

"He was just a plain old good-hearted farmer," Prosecutor Glenn Fortune said

The person who fired six shots into his head two from close up, apparently did not disturb anything in the house or steal anything, Beamer said

Three Injured In Automobile Accidents Here

Nye St. Couple Hurt When Car Hits Pole At Park and Columbia

Three persons were injured and two motorists were arrested in three of six traffic accidents in Marion city and county reported today by city police and the state highway patrol.

Elmer Ray Ingmier, 65, of 343 Nye St. and his wife Lesta, were slightly injured in a one-car accident at the corner of W. Columbia St. and Park Blvd. at 5:05 p.m. Monday.

Police reported Ingmier was driving west on W. Columbia St. and his car collided with a utility pole on the northeast corner of Park Blvd. and W. Columbia St.

Neither he nor his wife required treatment for their injuries, police said. The front end of the car was considerably damaged but there was no damage to the pole, police reported.

Driver Arrested

James Peter Hendy, 27, of 307 Franklin St. was arrested on a reckless driving charge following a collision at N. State St. and Fairview Ave. at 10:57 a.m. Monday in which Charles D. Mories, 54, of 1013 N. State St. received a back injury.

Police reported Hendy was driving east on Fairview Ave. and Moreis was driving a truck owned by Baldauf and Schlientz, Inc. south on N. State St. Impact of the collision flipped the two-ton truck over on its side and caused considerable damage to Hendy's car, police reported.

Mories was treated for his injuries at the Smith Clinic. Hendy was ordered to appear in Municipal Court for a hearing on the reckless driving charge today.

Another motorists, John T. Wright, 37, of 229½ N. Main St., was charged with drunken driving following a collision at N. Main and George Sts. with another car driven by Rex G. Henry, 16, of Waldo at 8:08 a.m. Monday. Police reported both cars were damaged but there were no injuries in the accident. Henry was driving north and Wright was traveling south on N. Main St., police said.

Second Charge Filed

Wright was also charged with having a snap or switch-blade knife in his possession in violation of a recently enacted state law. He was the first person arrested on this charge by city police. He was ordered to appear in Municipal Court today for hearings.

No injuries were reported in a collision of cars driven by John H. Blevins, 30, of 983 Henry St. and Webber S. Welch, 33, of Green Camp at Uncapaher Ave. and Keener St. at 7:24 a.m. Monday. Both cars were damaged, police said.

Only other traffic accident in the city was a hit-skip. A car parked on S. Main St. near W. Columbia St. and owned by Mrs. Clara E. Cosgrove of 555½ E. Church St. was damaged some when struck by an unidentified car sometime between 9 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Patrol Reports Accident

One minor accident was reported today by state patrolmen from the Marion post. The accident happened at 6:40 this morning on U. S. Route 23, at the corporation line of the city, and Copeland Ave.

A car driven by Louis Roberts, 19, of near Marion struck a car parked in a trailer camp at N. Main St. and Copeland Ave. According to patrol reports, Roberts was southbound and trying to turn west off Route 23 but failed to negotiate the turn. His car struck one owned by Robert E. Velk of 1015 N. Main St.

Minor damage to the front fender of Roberts' car and to the front grille of Velk's car were reported. Roberts was given a citation by patrolmen to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of unsafe operation

Soil Supervisors Meet in Delaware

A meeting of district supervisors of the soil conservation service was held recently at Holiday Hill in Delaware County. Included were supervisors and their wives from Marion, Franklin, Pickaway, Fayette, Madison, Union and Delaware Counties.

Speakers at the meeting were Roland Leeper, one of the supervisors from Marion County; Dean L. L. Rummell, of the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University; T. C. Canard, state soil conservation supervisor; and Floyd Heft, executive secretary of the Ohio soil conservation committee.

Attending from Marion County were H. H. Beringer of Waldo; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin W. Baldinger of near Marion; Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ruth of near Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Setter of New Bloomington. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Leeper of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams of the soil conservation service.

About 100 persons were in attendance at the dinner and meeting.

Benson

din of Maryland, the lone Republican in this conference of Dixie executives, came words of praise for Benson. "We are ready to follow his lead," McKeldin told newsmen.

Democrats Less Charitable

But Democratic governors generally were less charitable toward Benson's obvious bid for Southern support for what he termed the Eisenhower Administration's plan to "take that which works fairly well" in the present farm program "and strengthen it."

Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia said he heard "nothing new" in the 35-minute talk during which Benson never was interrupted by applause.

"If he has a farm program, he hasn't told us what it is," Battle commented.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who supported President Eisenhower in last year's campaign, said he wouldn't be surprised if farm and a lot of other prices decline next year. He said Benson was "honest and honorable" but lacked the "old pro" approach.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, another 1952 Eisenhower supporter, called it a "thoughtful speech." Byrnes applauded Benson's decision to seek from Congress a "reasonable increase" in the 1954 cotton acreage allotment.

Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, an Eisenhower supporter said he thinks Benson has come as close to solving the farm problem as anyone can.

States Should Share Load

Kennon said he thinks the states should take on more agricultural responsibility, as Benson suggested. But he said along with that responsibility the states should be willing to put up local cash.

Said Gov. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, chairman of the conference:

"Mr. Benson is a fine, affable Christian gentleman, but I am disappointed that he didn't advocate price supports at 90 per cent of parity for basic crops."

Parity is an artificial price said by law to equalize farmers' returns from their produce in relation to the prices of things they buy.

Gov. William C. Marland of West Virginia, called the secretary's speech "just another example of the Benson philosophy."

He said Benson hadn't suggested any means of leaving tax sources to the states to meet any added financial responsibility for the farm program.

Govs. Frank G. Clement of Kentucky, Francis Cherry of Arkansas and Johnston Murray of Oklahoma said that if the federal government wants to unload some of its farm burdens, it will have to step out of the way of the states on some taxes.

County's Soil Service Office Is Not Affected

The Soil Conservation manager in Marion, W. L. Williams, said today reorganization of the agriculture Department would not have any immediate affects on operation of the local office.

He said Secretary Benson's shakeup of the soil conservation service would eliminate the seven existing regional offices and create, in their place, 48 state offices. He said it was his personal opinion such a move would reduce the effectiveness of the soil conservation program.

He pointed out it took several years to get the regional office in Milwaukee, Wis. functioning in such a manner that it was effective in its operations. He added that by eliminating the regional office the government would be destroying an effective operating procedure.

The Milwaukee region embraces eight states, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio. Williams said the office had spent much time and effort in gathering information which applies to all the states in the region. He added this region produces 85 per cent of the food for the entire country.

Williams said he admired Benson's determination to put the reorganization in effect in the face of stiff opposition, but thought the secretary had been given wrong advice. He said conservation authorities throughout the country were indignant because none had been consulted in the reorganization.

When the session resumed the communist delegates said that after "preliminary study" they had "not found any elements in your statement which could be conducive to progress of the meetings."

Nonetheless they added that they would look it over some more and reply Wednesday at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Tuesday EST).

Dean told a news conference after the meeting.

"I still believe we can work this out and we are going to work this out".

The envoy said he still feels the Communists want the political conference.

More Firemen Needed Here, Officials Agree

4 to 6 Additional Men Would Increase Protection in Marion

Decision that a minimum of from four to six additional men are needed in the Marion city fire department was made at a meeting of various city officials and City Council members held last night at the Central Fire Station.

The meeting was called to discuss the needs of the fire department following complaints at the last two Council meetings by First Ward Councilman Harold Smith that the Mark St. station is not adequately manned.

He said when a township truck housed at the Mark St. station is called out to fires outside the city limits it leaves no one to man a city-owned truck at the station to provide protection for the north section of the city.

At last night's meeting, Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt said that while this is true at times, the north section of the city is protected by the Central and W. Center St. stations at the times the township truck is called outside the city limits.

16 or 17 Men on Duty

Chief Sifritt also said that because of days off he has an average of only 16 or 17 men to man seven pieces of fire fighting equipment at three fire stations each day. This number is further reduced by vacations and sick leaves.

Actually, he said, there are never more than three men on duty at the Mark St. station at any one time to man the two fire trucks housed there. Because it is unsafe to man a fire truck with less than two men, this in effect means only one truck can be used at a time, he said.

New Fire Houses

The discussion then turned to the possibility of future construction of two new fire houses, one in the east end and one in the Oakland Heights area. Those attending the meeting agreed this would be necessary at some future date.

Chief Sifritt also reported that it would soon be necessary to replace the fire chief's car with a new one and that the pumper truck at the W. Center St. station must soon be replaced.

Numerous other suggestions were made but no positive decisions other than that the size of the fire department should be increased were made. No indication was made as to whether a recommendation to this effect would be made at the next Council meeting.

Those attending the meeting were Louis Conkle and William Simmons of the Finance Ways and Means Committee of City Council; Herman Rinehart and Robert G. Haldeman of the Municipal Service Committee, Mayor Robinson, Safety-Service Director Ralph Forest, and Fire Chief Sifritt.

Youth's Back Broken in Fall

Loses Footing While Hunting Coon in Tree

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE — John Bell, 18, of east of Sycamore, suffered a fractured back last night when he fell from a tree. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock while he and two friends were training their coon dogs. He had climbed the tree to see if there was a coon in it, lost his footing and fell about 30 feet. The trio were in the Emery Lundy woods south of Sycamore.

Bell's friends Bob Shook, 18, and Wayne Solze, 18, both of Sycamore, took him to his home following the accident after which he was taken to a local physician by his mother. He then was transferred to Mercy Hospital in Tiffin where he was put in a cast.

Bell, a graduate of Sycamore High School last spring, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell, east of Sycamore.

Spokesman Denies Greenglass Gave Probers New Data

NEW YORK (AP) — The attorney for atom spy David Greenglass has denied reports by the U. S. Senate investigations subcommittee that Greenglass supplied important new information on espionage in the radar field.

O. John Rogge, counsel for Greenglass, said yesterday his client had been cooperative when questioned by subcommittee staff members Thursday at the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa.

However, Rogge said the FBI had previously covered every subject explored last Thursday by the investigators for the group headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R—Wis.).

The subcommittee has been looking into alleged radar espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. The group's hearings continue behind closed doors today with McCarthy scheduled to take over active charge of the probe. He had been on a speaking tour.

Nevada School Junior Wins Speaking Contest

Miss Eileen Corfman, a junior at Nevada High School, won the Prince of Peace Delamation contest held recently at the Methodist Church in Nevada in co-operation with the school and the Nevada Lutheran Church. She was presented a bronze medal provided by the Ohio Council of Churches which sponsors the annual speaking contests throughout the state. With first place award goes the opportunity of taking part in a county contest. Judges were seniors from Ohio Northern University at Ada.

Second place winner was Miss Janet Kellogg, also a junior at the high school, and others taking part in the speech competition were Misses Marilyn Hughey, Sarah Jane Kerr, and Anita Stolder all sophomores, and Jeannette Fackler, senior. Bruce Martin of the school faculty supervised the contestants.

The committee of judges included Robert W. Hughes of Huntsville, Clair Huntsman of Leipsic, and Lowell E. Lutz of Jeromesville. Those from the community taking part in the service were Mrs. Jesse A. Miller organist, Miss Suzanne Suter who read Scripture, Miss Carol Stover who sang accompanied by Theora Disher. Jerry McClain and John Suter, ushers, and the host pastor, Rev. F. A. McMillen.

Rites Are Set For Ohio Jurist

Justice Matthias Will Be Buried Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church in Columbus for Edward Shiloh Matthias, 80-year-old dean of Ohio Supreme Court jurists.

Judge Matthias died yesterday in a fall from a third floor window at his Columbus home.

The other six members of the Supreme Court will serve as honorary pallbearers. Judge Matthias will be buried in Green Lawn Cemetery here.

Before '39 years on the Supreme Court bench, Judge Matthias served as common pleas judge in Van Wert County from 1904-1914.

His fellow Supreme Court jurists paid high tribute to the jovial native of the village of Gilboa in Putnam County.

The comment of Judge James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, was typical. He called him "not only a great judge but a delightful companion and a real anchor to the court."

Judge Matthias leaves his widow, the former May F. Crouch of Warren, three daughters and a son.

Delaware Sheriff Continues Probe of Mysterious Death

Special to The Star

DELAWARE—Delaware County Sheriff Earl Fravel said investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of a former Columbus policeman, whose body was found in the Scioto River near O'Shaughnessy Dam 10 miles south of Delaware, Sunday, is being continued.

The Columbus resident was John J. Gillon, 33, a World War II veteran, who had been missing from his home since Oct. 24. He was formerly a member of the Columbus police department and was recently employed by a Columbus engineering firm.

His body was discovered Sunday about 8 a.m. by Link Steele of Shawnee Hills, who had gone to the river to fish. He said he saw a head bobbing in the water about 40 feet from the west bank and he borrowed a rowboat to drag the body to shore.

Columbus police homicide officials said a missing persons report had been filed at headquarters.

Gillon is reported to have last been seen driving a 1949 Pontiac on Oct. 24. The car had not yet been found. Keys to the car were found on Gillon's body when it was taken to Columbus for an autopsy. If the car is not found within a few days, the river will be dragged, Fravel said.

Dr. Tennyson Williams, acting Delaware County coroner, said the autopsy showed Gillon had drowned and that the body had been in the water about 36 hours.

Gillon's wife said she was positive her husband did not take his own life. She said he left home on the night of Oct. 24 to meet someone she did not know.

U.S. Has No Plans To Store Bombs in Spain, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States has no plans for storing atomic weapons in Spain.

If and when the United States has such plans, Dulles said, it will not announce it to the world and potential enemies.

Dulles spoke out at a news conference one day after Harold E. Talbott, secretary of the Air Force, said in Madrid yesterday the Air Force eventually will store supplies of atomic bombs in Spain, to have them ready for use against "a common enemy."

Talbott said the storing would be done only if the Spanish government agreed.

Dulles told the conference he did not know precisely what Talbott or Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, had said. He added, however, he was sure Talbott and Twining would be surprised at the headlines in American newspapers about what they reportedly said.

Meet in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Women from all over the world met in Columbus today in the first assembly of the North American Women's Union of the Baptist World Alliance.

Some 1,000 delegates, including many from most of the European countries, China, India and most of the United States, gathered here yesterday for an interim conference. The alliance regularly meets every five years.

2 Admit Vice Charge, Must Leave Marion

A Marion man and woman were given the choice of selling their property and leaving town within 30 days or of paying stiff fines and serving six-month jail terms when they pleaded guilty in Municipal Court yesterday to charges of keeping a house of prostitution.

Frank DeRosa, 53, and Sue DeRosa, 35, of 848 Kenton Ave. were arrested in a raid by police at the Kenton Ave. address last Wednesday.

Both were fined $300 and costs and sentenced to six months in the Columbus workhouse but the jail terms were suspended for both and the fine was suspended for Frank on condition they dispose of the property and leave town within 30 days. Sue paid her $300 fine.

Two other women arrested on prostitution charges during the raid pleaded guilty. Kathryn Bernard was charged with residing in the place for the purpose of prostitution and Terry Monroe was charged with engaging in prostitution. Each was fined $25 and costs and ordered to leave Marion within 24 hours.

The arrests last Wednesday marked the fourth time Frank and Sue DeRosa were arrested in a four-year period on similar charges, Police Chief Tom Coon said.

A hearing for a fifth person arrested as a result of the raid is still pending. He is Charles E. Campbell, 39, of 136 Union St., charged with offering and agreeing to transport a member of the police force to 848 Kenton Ave. with knowledge or reasonable purpose to know that the purpose of such transportation was prostitution.

World Community Day To Be Marked In Marion Friday

World Community Day, a church women's project to assist the needy overseas, will be observed in Marion Friday at 2 p.m. in Trinity Baptist Church sponsored by the Marion County Council of Church Women.

"Stretch Forth Thy Hand" will be the subject of the featured speaker, Miss Bertha Jacobs of Columbus, who returned recently from Europe. She is editor of the Courier, monthly news publication of the United Church Women of Columbus and Franklin County.

Special vocal music will be by Mrs. Tim Wyant, Mrs. C. W. Davis will serve as organist, and song director will be Mrs. J. B. Holloway. Mrs. R. C. Alexander, world relations chairman of the local United Church Women, will be the worship leader. Mrs. Roland Augenstein will give a reading, and prayers will be given by Rev. J. B. Holloway and Rev. H. V. Falor. Mrs. Edith Bush will be in charge of the offering dedication.

All church women are urged to bring material contributions, new or used, toward this year's project of aiding refugees in Christian centers in Korea, Hong Kong, India, Pakistan, the Near East, Berlin, Trieste, and other parts of Europe. Contributions may include wash cloths, towels, pillow cases, sheets, light-weight blankets and quilts, curtains, drapes, and table cloths.

The committee planning the Community Day program consists of Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Leo Kohler, Mrs. H. M. Brewer, Mrs. Pearl Crall, and Mrs. Fred Dutt.

Vote

was Marion Township North, with a turnout of a little more than five per cent.

Largest number of voters to go to the polls in any of the precincts checked was in Marion Township South where 80 votes had been cast by mid-morning. However, with 898 voters registered, the percentage of turnout was only 8.9.

Out of a possible 4,578 voters eligible to cast their ballots in the city precincts checked this morning, a total of 425 votes had been made, for a percentage of 9.2.

In the county check, 252 votes from among a possible 2,653 were reported, for a turnout percentage of 9.5.

The total city and county vote spot-checked amounted to 677 votes out of a possible 7,231 for a 9.5 per cent turnout.

Union Barbers Decide To Close Wednesdays

You won't be able to get a haircut in union barbershops on Wednesdays anymore; Marion barbers are going on a five-day work-week.

The move was made last night at a special meeting of the Marion Barbers Union, Local No. 554, AFL.

In the future, local barber shops will be closed all day on Wednesdays. Hours for the balance of the week will be from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., except on Saturdays when the shops will close one hour earlier, at 4:30 p.m.

According to C. D. Burgess, secretary-treasurer of the Local, journeymen barbers have been negotiating for some time with the proprietors to obtain the shortened week.

PUCO Ruling Favors Atomic Plant Workers

Decides Trailer Park Operators Can't Resell Power to Tenants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state utilities commission has acted to give Pike County atomic plant workers living in trailers a fair shake on their electric rates.

It turned down a plan of trailer park operators to resell electricity to their tenants and approved the present system of electric companies determining bills for trailer owners.

The commission adopted in full the recommendations of Charles B. Ballou, its attorney-examiner who heard testimony in cases involving the Southern Ohio Trailer Park Owners' Assn., the Ohio Power Co. and the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Both companies have lines in the atomic plant area where for several years 30,000 temporary workers will be located. The number will drop swiftly to about 4,000 after the plant is constructed.

The companies, as a matter of policy, are against having their electricity resold by someone else such as trailer park operators.

The trailer park operators suggested they build their own electrical distribution systems and buy electricity from a power company. They in turn would resell it to trailer occupants, fixing the rates to tenants.

Ohio law does not give the state utilities commission power to regulate rates of "remetered" electricity.

The proposal recommended by the commission calls for the power company to install the system for distributing electricity to individual trailers. The trailer park operator would pay for the system.

But the power company would refund to the trailer park operator yearly 10 per cent of the amount charged for its electricity. This amount would be applied against the cost of the distribution system.

Trailer park operators wanted the right to fix electric charges to tenants.

Ballou said the companies had indicated they will go ahead on the recommendations. Ohio Power suggested the plan at a meeting and the other company indicated then it would go along with 10 per cent annual refunds to trailer park operators.

Russians Defeated, U.N. To Consider Korean Atrocities

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. delegates were given time today to prepare for a full General Assembly airing of American charges of Communist atrocities in Korea.

The United States yesterday pushed through the 14-nation steering committee its demand that the charges, backed by U. S. Army photographs and documents as evidence the Reds in Korea tortured and murdered tens of thousands of victims, be placed before the world in an Assembly plenary session.

The 12-2 vote in favor of placing the issue on the agenda came after heated opposition by the Soviet bloc members—Russia and Poland. The Soviet bloc is expected to make a last ditch try to keep the 60-nation Assembly from taking up the issue; but there appeared little chance they could line up enough support to kill it.

U. N. officials said the Assembly would not take up the atrocity item at today's plenary, but probably would consider it early next week.

Columbus Man Elected By Agricultural Society

Annual election of officers was held at a meeting of the Agricultural Society of Ohio at Hotel Harding Monday night.

William Seymour of Columbus was elected president. Robert McAndrew of Marion was named vice president. Three other Marion men were named to offices. They were Charles Turner, secretary; Al Gilmore, treasurer, and Herbert Hanes, sergeant-at-arms.

During the regular business meeting, plans for the installation next fall of a swimming pool and fishing pond on the society's property were discussed. The property is located near Fulton in Morrow County.

Other topics of discussion were the extension of the farm program, and the benefits obtained by members of the society. The group is an organization of city residents who like to work at farming in their spare time.

the face of one of the bitterest and costliest campaigns in years. Estimates of the cost run as high as a million dollars per candidate.

Three years ago the Liberals polled only 223,993 votes in support of a Democratic candidate out of a total vote of 2,626,478.

Wagner is a heavy betting favorite. The New York Daily News straw poll—never wrong in past mayoral elections—gives him a 2-1 edge over Riegelman, with Halley a poor third.

Executives' Club Directors Elected At Dinner Meeting

Three new members were named to the Board of Directors of the Marion Executive's Club at a meeting at Hotel Harding Saturday night.

Elected to serve for terms of three years were Carl Campbell of 141 Homer St., John W. Dean of 404 Brightwood Dr., and Earl J. Andrews of 624 Concord Ave. Andrews is also secretary-treasurer of the club.

Guest speaker for the meeting was T. W. "Buckshot" Lane a former sheriff of Wharton County, Tex. He told of many of his experiences during his 18 years as sheriff.

His method of law enforcement is to "shoot only when necessary," he told club members. Emphasis in his office was on use of modern equipment such as two-way radio, an airplane for patrol work, complete weather station and lie detector for crime detection and prevention.

Valuing public opinion highly, Lane said he also believes a "well informed public is better than the laws in statute books, a lie detector is cleaner than a rubber hose, and brain work is more powerful than brawn."

As part of his talk Lane also demonstrated the use of a lie detector and explained how the device is used to obtain the truth from suspects and witnesses.

Firemen Here Called to Four Minor Blazes

Marion firemen were called out to four small fires during the last 24 hours.

At 3:28 p.m. Monday, the township owned fire truck was called out from the Mark St. station to a grass fire on the Crystal Lake Park property north of the city on Route 4. No damage was reported. The blaze was believed to have started along the Pennsylvania Railroad right of way from sparks from a passing locomotive.

The township truck was called out again at 7:35 p.m. Monday to a grass fire on the farm of Harry Lust on Route 30-S west of the city. It was believed started from a discarded match or cigaret thrown from a passing car. No loss was reported.

At 8:06 last night firemen were called to E. Church St. and Grover Ave. where some burning leaves in the street had set a utility pole on fire. There was only small loss to the pole. Firemen from the Central station answered the call.

At 7:40 a.m. today Central station firemen were called to the Baldauf and Schlientz, Inc. coal yard on N. Greenwood St. when a workman lost control of a bonfire in some discarded lumber and it set fire to a telegraph pole nearby. There was only small loss to the pole.

State Sen. Anthony J. Celebreze, with the backing of Gov. Frank J. Lausche defeated a candidate of the local Democratic organization in the Cleveland mayoral primary. He is opposed by a former juvenile judge, Republican William J. McDermott.

Income Tax Angle

A city income tax hangs in the balance in Canton where Republican Mayor Carl F. Wise favors a one-half of one per cent levy. He is opposed by former Democratic Mayor Thomas H. Nichols who has not taken a stand on the tax issue.

Incumbent mayors in Athens, Nelsonville and Mount Vernon are unopposed.

board. Rescuers pulled him out but he died enroute to a hospital.

In addition to the Black Falcon and Leyte explosions, a U. S. government-owned experimental fishing vessel was swept by a $100,000 fire while tied up in Boston Oct. 22, and a Navy radar ship, the U.S.S. William K. Wood, suffered $8,000 damages Oct. 26 in a fire caused by a boiler flareback.

Daniel J. Donovan, international vice president of the longshoremen's union to which the victims belonged, charged the drums of chemicals were stored near boilers "against regulations."

Drums Carried Regulations

He pointed to some drums unloaded from the Black Falcon, and declared to newsmen: "Look what's printed on them."

The drums were marked: "Sodium peroxyde—stow away from boiler—made in Germany."

Labels on the drums also warned not to spill contents and not to subject contents to moisture.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Everybody these days talks about democracy, employing the word loosely to imply a myriad of meanings. But what is called democracy can have no political implications unless the citizens go to the polls and vote for those who are to govern them.

SOKOLSKY

It must be granted that the candidates are often such as to leave the voter without choice. Mr. X is no more attractive as a public official than Mr. Y and neither discusses any important issue.

Nevertheless, the mere act of voting is inherent in citizenship, unles we are to interpret an unwillingness to vote not only as a boycott of the candidates but as a loss of faith in our form of government.

ONE ELECTION I voted for a candidate who had no chance of winning and whose prime virtue was that he wore a beard. I went to the polls and, in effect, voted for Mr. Nobody because I could not in conscience vote for the candidates of either party.

On another occasion I did not vote at all. I was wrong. Even if one enters the polls and votes for nobody, it is sounder than to refrain from voting altogether because by going to the polls, by the physical act of attendance, one participates in government by choice which, in our political system, goes back to the Declaration of Independence.

JUDGE LEARNED Hand has stated the case in this fashion:

"Indeed the apathy of the modern voter is the confusion of the modern reformer. I live where that apathy seems to have attacked even the deepest ganglia; no disclosures, no scandals, can stir the voters from their inertia.

"Doubtless things might become uncomfortable enough to arouse them, but, given reasonable opportunity for personal favors, and a not too irksome control, they are content to abdicate their sovereignty and to be fleeced, if the shepherds will only shear them in their sleep.

"That was not the presupposition of our traditional democracy, which assumed an intelligent attention and capacity in public affairs, and a will directed towards the general good. . ."

Judge Hand lives in New York City where 8,500,000 other persons, mostly Americans, live.

GRANTED THAT some of these citizens come from parts of the world where government by choice is unknown, but their numbers, in comparison with the entire population, are not large.

Furthermore, in other cities where the immigrant population is much smaller, the number of citizens who vote in all elections, especially those dealing only with local offices, is comparatively small.

In the present election in New York, only a fraction of the population came out to register. They permitted the election to go by default.

When the people minimize their interest in public affairs, when such a question as whether a man named Julius does or does not marry a girl called Dot rises to front page significance during a municipal campaign, the apathy of the people approaches apostasy.

IT OPENS the door to government by racketeers, for when the institutions of the people are deserted by the people, they will be seized by those who can profit by them.

Thus, in city after city, corruption has almost come to be recognized as inevitable, just as during the Prohibition period, such creatures as Al Capone, Dutch Schultz, and their cohorts were even regarded as essential to the maintenance of order because the police had abdicated their authority.

It would seem futile to spend billions of dollars in all parts of the world extolling the virtues of our form of government — of government by choice — if we abandon this very system by staying away from the polls, or even worse, by avoiding debate and discussion of issues because they are boresome, by refraining from the controversial.

FREEDOM, the preservation of freedom, depends upon discussion and controversy and the hammering of public issues on the anvil of debate.

Each year, this is said. In the last presidential election, the Advertising Council, by constant reiteration of the subject in press and radio, somehow brought the citizens to the polls. Then the interest subsided.

The people want taxes down and prices down and war ended, but they would prefer not to dwell on these subjects; they revert to the joys of personal life.

They leave government to professional politicians and to racketeers.

That is neither democracy nor representative government. It is a retreat from Americanism.

Ohio Man One of Two Dead in Indiana Crash

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—An Ohio man and a Kentucky woman were killed last night in the collision of a car and a trailer-truck on U. S. 35 near Blountsville.

The dead were identified as Andrew T. Combs, 82, Rt 6, Portsmouth, Ohio, and Nellis S. Pruitt, 65, Ashland, Ky.

MURDER TRIAL OPENED

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — The second degree murder trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Rhodebeck, 27-year-old farm wife accused of murdering her 5-year-old son, goes into its second day today. A jury of six men and six women was seated yesterday and viewed the spot 19 miles north of Lancaster where the alleged slaying took place Aug. 7.

Builders, Realtors Set Dinner Meeting

Members of the Marion Home Builders Association have invited members of the Marion Real Estate Board and representatives of various lending institutions in the city to join with them in a joint dinner meeting at the Harding Hotel at 6.30 p.m. Thursday.

Guest speakers will be Robert B. Rieth, assistant chief of the appraisal section of the regional Veterans Administration office in Cleveland and Charles H. Wright, chief of the examining section of the regional office.

Rieth will talk on property appraisals, minimum requirements for home loan guarantees for veterans under the GI Bill and other regulations concerning his office. Wright will discuss the operations of his office along with other requirements necessary for VA home loan guarantees and other regulations pertaining to such loans.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Deep in the heart of Chicago's stockyards, among those who slaughter cattle and prepare the meats for millions of American dinner tables, are some union members and officials who would butcher American democracy the first moment they could.

RIESEL

Some of these people have blasted our foreign policy. They have assailed the FBI and have ordered their union members not to cooperate in the pursuit of the remaining five Communist fugitives from justice one of whom, Gil Green by name, used to lecture them on tactics.

Higher echelons in this union have blasted the U.S. for indicting Owen Lattimore, whom they still call "an outstanding authority on the Near East."

A LESSER leader of this union has actually gone to Moscow on a junket prepared by the most vicious of pro-Soviet agencies. And he has returned to give press conferences at which he released Soviet propaganda.

Yet this union, the United Packinghouse Workers, CIO, has just been given a clean bill of political health by a three-man CIO investigating committee—a decision which could split CIO wide open.

This three-man committee turned its friendly report in to the CIO executive committee in Washington the other day—and that body was hit by such turmoil that CIO chief Walter Reuther withheld action on the findings.

The investigators, appointed by Reuther some time ago to probe the Packinghouse Union, concluded that it wasn't following the Communist line anywhere.

It seems to me that this decision must have been prompted by a misguided philosophical fear that it is illiberal to charge anyone with being sympathetic to, or infiltrated by, pro-Communists.

FACT OF THIS matter is that the top leadership of the Packinghouse Union last May distributed a four-page, two-color (yellow and white) tabloid paper assailing American foreign policy in the Orient.

For a union which has had to borrow money to keep going in the past, this is certainly more than a slight over-sensitivity to our refusal to recognize Red China.

This tabloid, issued under the imprimatur of the union's Executive Council, called our foreign policy "absurd." It wept for Owen Lattimore in these sobbing words:

"We do know how Lattimore, an outstanding authority on the Far East, has been hounded and harassed."

THE UNION then came to the defense of one Abe Flaxer, leader of the pro-Communist United Public Workers, which, according to congressional testimony, has been an agency for Communist infiltration into the government. This outfit was kicked out of the CIO itself a few years back for following CP policies.

But that's not all. One of the Packinghouse Union's locals, 347, which has jurisdiction over 6,000 Armour workers, functions right under the nose of the Packinghouse national office in Chicago. Yet Leon Beverly, as president of the Armour Local, was listed as one of the American Committee to Survey Trade Union Conditions in Europe.

No ordinary committee this one. It was organized and is run by one Charles Velson.

This organizer, a notorious pro-sovieteer, has refused to deny under congressional oath that he was the assistant to master-spy Jay Peters, the same man who gave Whittaker Chambers many of his orders back in the thirties.

VELSON ALSO refused to deny, before a congressional committee, that he had been assigned by Peters to help plant Soviet agents in the U.S. armed forces.

When the Packinghouse official Leon Beverly himself, was asked at a congressional committee hearing to deny membership in the Communist party, he refused to answer on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

There are at least 30 others who have similar records and are, to varying degrees, active in the Packinghouse Workers Union—including one Charles Maybray.

As secretary of Local 81 of that union, Maybray actually went to Poland and Moscow with a group including Leon Strauss, who acts as grand marshal of Communist May Day parades.

THIS RECORD could roll on for yards more of columnar space. But it's all the same—a record of men who place the blame for world crisis on America.

This is a record of men who say we fight off our allies' demands for recognition of Red China by "sheer weight of wealth and power."

Undoubtedly, the clearing of this union by a small CIO committee will become a convention issue when the CIO meets in Cleveland in a few weeks. Already sides are being chosen.

Perhaps for the first time we will hear why some labor leaders have such horror of calling a spade a spade, regardless of what it unearths.

Wars and Taxes

By Bob Considine

The federal tax bite is especially harsh in certain fields of endeavor where the earner is a loner — such as a doctor or a lawyer or a writer. This naturally doesn't apply to lone ex-presidents, lone ex-generals, or Katherine Winsor, who writes only for fun, not profit, and may or may not be a loner as we go to press.

The working stiff who earns a buck without the aid and comfort of a personally-owned business or building has little or no way of blunting the tax blow or getting capital gains, unless he ventures into the field of outside speculation, which he generally cannot afford.

There is no refuge against his physical and mental depreciation and deterioration, as there would be if he were something inanimately valuable, like an oil well.

INVENTORS stand under this cloud, too. But the National Patent Council is doing something about them. John W. Anderson, president, has carried his alarmed views to the House Ways and Means Committee through which tax revision laws must be funneled.

Anderson's beef is that the Internal Revenue Bureau and our courts are in bewildering conflict over whether an inventor must pay through the nose as soon as his don-dad pays off or pay the gent's capital gains tab.

The bureau says pay up. A number of court's have ruled that an invention may be the fruit of years of work and therefore an inventor should have as much right to keep 75 per cent of what he makes as a man who buys a stock, keeps it for six months, and sells it.

THERE WERE 13 per cent fewer patent applications last year than in 1950, and Anderson blames this tax snarl for the decline. The incentive is fading, he adds.

"Oil wells may last 50 years or more," Anderson pointed out. "But a patent runs dry in 17 years after it has been granted. And a large share of that time may be lost before any revenue results."

The tinkerers have not given up entirely, of course. There are 180,000 patent applications now waiting processing in the Patent Office.

Among recently granted patents: a motor-driven wheelbarrow . . . a cigarette holder that completely envelops the cigarette. The ashes remain in the holder until it is convenient to shake them out . . . An 8-faced clock that tells the corresponding time in any selected part of the world . . . a "noiseless" typewriter . . . and a push-button beer can puncher.

Upward and onward to the beckoning millenium.

THE SHOCKING statistics on Communist atrocities in the Korean war—including the probable murder of 6,113 Americans — lends new significance to a sober-sided book named "Advance to Barbarism," by a British lawyer, F. J. P. Veale. It is published in this country by C. C. Nelson, Appleton, Wisc. The foreword is by Dean Inge of St. Paul's. Wars since 1700 are studied and, with World War II, the author is convinced that no civilized codes or warfare remain.

War has reverted to the attitudes and practices of primitives, to the glacial and stone ages and the ages of the Assyrians and Mongol conquerors — when it was a case of exterminate or risk being exterminated.

Veale is critical of his country's RAF, for introducing mass bombings of non-military targets.

HE BELIEVES (along with a majority of professional military men) that the Nuremberg trials — which made the loss of a major war a crime punishable by death — will induce losing leaders to resort to history's most inhuman practices in the hope of negating a post-war death sentence.

Adenauer Gets Needed Edge In Parliament

Victory in German State Elections Aids Pro-West Coalition

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's "Hamburg bloc" uprooted the Socialists Monday from their stronghold here in Hamburg state elections which also steeled the federal government's hand for pushing through its pro-Western policies.

Complete official returns from yesterday's voting gave the bloc—Christian Democrats, Free Democrats, the Germany party and the Refugee party—62 of the state Parliament's 120 seats. The voters also ousted the Socialist state governor, Minister President Max Brauer, in favor of an Adenauer man who will have the power to appoint the state's three representatives to the upper house of the federal Parliament.

Those appointments will give Adenauer's coalition the two-thirds majority it needs in the Bundesrat, the federal upper house, to get parliamentary approval of plans to rearm Western Germany and ally her closely with West Europe's defense setup. The coalition already controls a two-thirds majority in the lower house, the Bundestag.

The hotly contested election brought out 81 per cent of Hamburg's million and a quarter eligible voters and gave the Hamburg bloc 503,997 votes, or 50 per cent of the total. The Socialists, who have been in power in Hamburg since 1945, were close behind with 455,372 votes—45.2 per cent. The Communists failed to get the necessary 5 per cent of the votes and thus won no seat in the state Parliament.

They won only 3.2 per cent of the total ballots. In the last state election in 1949, the Reds won five seats. The extreme right-wing German Reich party fared even worse, polling only 7,446 votes, or 0.7 per cent.

Compared to the Sept. 6 general election which returned Adenauer to power, the Chancellor's coalition forces dropped about 83,000 votes while the Socialists gained about 52,000. In the national elections 86.8 per cent of Hamburg's voters cast ballots.

Western State Governors Get Behind Benson

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Western governors generally say they back the administration's farm policy but concede it may lead to political storms ahead.

"Certainly it will hurt politically," said Utah's J. Bracken Lee, "but I'd rather lose being right than win being wrong."

The chief executives—Republicans all—spoke up informally on the growing controversy over farm prices and Secretary of Agriculture Benson as they opened a two-day session. On the program, they are scheduled to talk about mining, highway financing, higher education and water and listen to a major address by Secretary of Interior McKay.

Lee led a group of governors recommending that President Eisenhower and Benson stand pat on their efforts to find a solution to the farm crisis.

"What hurts most," said Lee, "is weakening within the Republican party itself over this issue. Certainly there is a party rift. But we stand to lose more by giving in to a loud minority than by standing firm on our principles."

Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington said the attack on Secretary Benson "is a lot of Democratic wishful thinking."

"It takes time to go from right to wrong. What do they expect of a man in such a short time. He's trying to find not the answer, but a step that will lead to stabilizing the situation without upsetting the entire economic picture."

The conference chairman, Gov Howard Pyle of Arizona, conceded the cotton allotment program will hurt in his state, but says he has found no reason to believe the controversy will leave a deep political scar. He backed Lee in asserting the GOP would lose rather than gain if it accedes to demand to put supports on livestock.

Suggesting the Western governors are not united on the issue, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California noted his state is "not insensitive' to farm policy criticism in the Middle West. And, he added, "Wisconsin was not an incident—it was a defeat and something the party has to face."

Key Figure in Probe 'Resting' in Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP)— The St. Louis police officer who resigned after arresting the Bobby Greenlease kidnap-slayers is vacationing on the island of Maui with his son, Bruce, who works there.

Ex-Lt. Louis Shoulders arrived in Honolulu Saturday night under an assumed name, but he revealed his identity to questioning reporters.

"I want to rest and be left alone," Shoulders said.

Shoulders quit the St. Louis force after questioning by a police board on his handling of the case. He testified before a Kansas City grand jury Wednesday and Thursday on his part in the arrest and the recovery of half of the $600,000 ransom.

Shoulders was released by court officials and told he was not needed further.

Actor Returns To Hollywood After Six Years

Had To Regain My Self Respect, Film Star Tells Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In 1947, Phillip Terry, actor and divorced husband of Joan Crawford, disappeared from the Hollywood scene.

After a six-year absence, he has returned to his acting career. Why did he leave? What did he do? Why did he return?

The actor changed little during his absence, except for a slight graying at the temples. But he admitted that his outlook has changed considerably.

"I quit Hollywood in 1947 because of personal reasons that had grown intolerable," he recalled. "It got so I couldn't stay here and keep my self-respect, which was very important to me. After all, you have to live with yourself."

I pressed him for the reasons, and he said that much of his troubles stemmed from a report printed by two columnists. The story declared that Terry was holding out for a big property settlement before he would allow the divorce from Joan Crawford.

"We had already agreed on a settlement four months before," he said "I got a retraction printed, but the damage had been done. I didn't want to stay around Hollywood, knowing what some people would be thinking of me."

So he packed up and left He became the operator of a resort hotel near Carmel, Calif.

"I wanted to get away from people, and I did it with a vengeance," he laughed. "Our nearest neighbor was 15 miles away."

But the enterprise met with disaster The place suffered a fire that cut accommodations from 170 to 70. The next summer a forest fire raged nearby for 34 days. The register dwindled from 70 to 6. During the winter a flood cut off approaches to the hotel, and Terry had to be rescued by authorities.

"I decided I was in the wrong business," he said. "You have to know how to run a hotel, a restaurant and a bar. These businesses are tricky even for those who are experienced in them. I knew nothing about them."

After selling out the hotel, Terry decided he wanted to live in Mexico That dream lasted about six months. Now he's back in Hollywood to resume his acting career Except for some TV films with Gloria Swanson in Mexico, he hasn't acted for six years. He hasn't lost his touch; he has been much in demand for appearances in TV films.

Condition of Ohio Main Roads Shown On State Highway Department's Map

By WILLIAM K. TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How good are the state roads around your town?

Unless you are color blind, you can look at the state highway department's road sufficiency map and tell at a glance just what the department thinks of its primary state roads.

The map is printed in colors—green, blue, orange and red. The colors show how sufficient or adequate the department thinks each stretch of road is, considering the type of road, condition of its surface, its width, freedom from dangerous curves, and the number of vehicles that use it.

This map will be one of the main exhibits at public hearings Wednesday and Thursday to consider classification of state highways. The newly-formed state highway construction council tentatively has classified the 18,540 miles of state roads. Some 5,977 miles are listed as major thoroughfares, 8,291 miles as auxiliary state roads, and 4,127 as state roads used mainly to travel between towns close together.

Highest rating is green, which means the road is 80 to 100 per cent adequate for present day travel. Blue means 60 through 79 per cent sufficiency, orange 40 through 59 and red 10 through 39

The department has been using the map for about one year, and the idea has spread to other states.

Let's take a few mental rides along some of the roads which the construction council has designated temporarily as major thoroughfares and, theoretically, as those which because of their heavy use should be the best:

Starting in Columbus we take Ohio 23 south. The first few miles are fine. Then the road drops to blue to the Pickaway County line, changes to orange to Circleville and to blue to the Ross County line. Then comes three miles of red, or critical area, road. Next is blue to Chillicothe, two miles of red, eight of orange, several miles of new highway, two miles of orange, five miles of blue (to Waverly), several miles under construction, blue to Piketon, under construction to the Scioto County line, and orange or under construction to Portsmouth. This road runs through the Pike County atomic plant area and likely will be a prime project when priorities are ironed out.

You'll find an excellent 60-mile stretch in the section of Ohio 40 from Springfield east to Kirkersville. From Springfield to the Indiana line it is half orange and half blue.

Continuing east from Kirkersville, you find roughly one mile of blue, 15 miles of orange, five of blue, 12 of new construction to near Zanesville, two miles of orange, 10 miles of orange and 12 of new construction to near Cambridge, a mile of red, then blue, green, orange, green, blue, green, new construction, green, orange, blue and orange in that order for the rest of the way to St. Clairsville Quite a mixture.

The section of Ohio 20 from 10 miles west of Fremont to Norwalk, a new four-lane highway, is one of the best in the state.

Ohio 4 from Dayton to Cincinnati by way of Hamilton goes like this: Blue for three miles, green to Germantown, red and orange to Middletown, orange to Hamilton, blue and orange to Cincinnati. If you don't want to go to Hamilton, you can cut off on Ohio 747, ● secondary and blue road.

Ohio 14 from Salem to Cleveland appears to be a critical area, with 16 miles of red roads and two bridges given a red rating. Routes 7 and 30 are red for about eight miles north from East Liverpool.

Young Accident Victim Is 'Fair' at Delaware

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Six-year-old Barbara Sue Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of Delaware suffered a skull fracture Monday when she was hit by a car as she crossed a street on her way to school.

Her physician at Jane M Case Hospital here said today that her condition is described as "fair" and that she had gained consciousness and was rational this morning.

The car was driven by Herman Maschmann, 17, of near Delaware, who was charged in juvenile court with failure to yield the right of way. He is a senior at Willis High School and was driving to the school, accompanied by two boys and a girl, when the accident occurred. Police said Maschmann, driving south had stopped for the red traffic signal. When the light changed, he made a left turn and the car struck the girl as she crossed the street.

Fremont Jumps to Eighth Place in Ohio's Grid Poll

Massillon and Portsmouth Wage Fight for Top Spot

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon's mighty Tigers, five-times state champs and hot on the trail of the sixth, remained today atop The Associated Press poll of Ohio's No. 1 high school football team.

But Portsmouth's Trojans, also boasting seven straight wins, crept up a bit on the champs as 34 sports writers voted on the weekly ratings

Massillon swept over Warren, last week's second placer, 27-6 Friday night before some 22 000 fans, but the scribes liked the Panther performance so much they dropped Coach Chuck Riffle's one-time losers only to fourth place

Portsmouth, an impressive 39-7 victor over Hamilton's Big Blue, jumped back into second place with a bang, only 48 poll points back of Chuck Mather's Massillons—which is about as close as anyone has come this season. Last week Massillon had 279 poll points to Portsmouth's 200, but the Trojans garnered 230 this week to Massillon's 278

Dayton Chaminade, 40-0 winner over Dayton Roosevelt, took over third place. Cincinnati Purcell (53-0 over Roger Bacon), New Philadelphia (34-0 over Bellaire), Middletown (13-6 over Lima South), Fremont Ross (44-7 over Bowling Green), and Youngstown Ursuline (19-0 over Steubenville Central Catholic), clung to the fifth through ninth places they held a week ago

Only change in the top 10 came in 10th place where Memorial St Marys, despite a 60-27 win over Bellefontaine to boost its scoring record for seven wins to 342-60, skidded a notch and surrendered the berth to Toledo DeVilbiss' unbeaten squad.

Warren, Middletown and Youngstown Ursuline of the big 10 have lost 1 of 7, but the others have 7 straight Their scoring records:

Massillon 270-30, Portsmouth 230-42, Dayton Chaminade 304-39, Warren 193-85, Cincinnati Purcell 221-38, New Philadelphia 200-0, Middletown 147-46, Fremont Ross 283-33, Youngstown Ursuline 112-44, and Toledo DeVilbis 163-43.

From here and there: Dave Kuenzli of Upper Sandusky clung to the state scoring lead this week with 184 points for seven games He got 40 points in the 59-0 win over Norwalk, scoring 6 touchdowns, passing for 2 others and booting 4 extra points. He's rushed for 1,259 yards in 134 tries, received passes for 208 yards, completed 21 of 35 tosses for 384 He's only 18 but weighs 182, runs the 100 in 10.5, is a "high B" student, a senior, has won three football and basketball and two track letters, and wants to be a coach Upper Sandusky also sings the praises of Keith Quail, a guard

Toledo Clay won its 28th straight, 53-0 over Perrysburg . . . And Holland wrecked Ottawa Hills 81-0 to boost its scoring total to 359 points, probably the state's best Chauncey-Dover also made it 28 in a row, 40-0 over Jackson-Trimble

Cincinnati Central, loser of its first 6 games, defeated Cincinnati Hughes 15-6, although Hughes had won its first 6 . . . Jack Nichols of Jimmy Robinson's fine Canton Lehman team scored 24 points in the 54-6 romp over Akron Kenmore, boosting his total to 127 Incidentally, genial Jim is being touted for coach of the year and boss of the Northern All-Stars in recognition of his season's efforts.

Here's how 34 newspaper and radio sports editors rate the teams this week. Shown are the first-place votes received by each, and the poll points on a 10-9-8- etc. basis.

Teams	Firsts	points
Massillon	18	278
Portsmouth	5	230
Dayton Chaminade	3	168

Y Cage Managers To Plan Campaign

A meeting of managers of prospective basketball teams for the 1953-54 YMCA basketball season has been called for Wednesday evening at the YMCA at 7 p.m.

Tentative plans call for the Independent League to be played on the south gymnasium on Monday while the Industrial League is scheduled to stage its games on Wednesday. Howard Gilbert, chairman of the Basketball Committee will meet with managers to explain rules and regulations and to make up the leagues for the coming year.

Marion teams will receive priority on entry into either league To date four teams from outside the limits of Marion County have applied for entry into the Independent League The meeting of managers will be followed by a basketball clinic sponsored by the Mid - Ohio Officials Association which is open to all local teams and representatives.

Teams desiring entry into either the YMCA open or Industrial Leagues should call the YMCA or Howard Gilbert some time prior to Wednesday's meeting.

1,500 Fremont Fans Expected for Game

A large crowd of Fremont Ross football fans are expected in Marion Friday night to watch their undefeated team meet Harding for the Buckeye League championship.

Cecil Gabler, Harding principal, reported today that at their request Fremont school officials have been supplied with 1,000 adult tickets in a block in the east bleachers. He added that 200 to 500 student tickets are expected to be sold in Fremont.

According to Gabler, tickets will be at a premium for the game.

To meet the pre-game demand, reserved seat tickets in Sections B and D have been placed on advance sale at the Markert & Lewis Store and the National City Bank. Additional reserved seat and general admission tickets will be on sale at the stadium on the night of the game.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

OSU's Buckeyes combined a hard-hitting ground game with an effective aerial attack Saturday to send 80 000 homecoming spectators on their way with a 27-13 win over an outmanned Northwestern squad.

SHORT

Many fans, sportswriters and even faculty members said it was the best rounded performance turned in by an Ohio State eleven since the days of the Paul Brown and Carrol Widdoes precision machines.

We thought the Bucks turned in a commendable game but most of the scoring came after the Wildcats had folded in the second half. The inability of the Wildcats to shift their defense, was the big cause of their downfall.

During the first half, Quarterback Dave Leggett passed the visitors silly. During the intermission, Bob Voigts and his assistants shifted their defense to defend against aerials and Woody Hayes immediately turned loose Bob Watkins and Hopalong Cassady That pair tore the Northwestern line to shreds and when the secondary came in to assist, Hayes inserted Johnny Borton, his All-American quarterback candidate Borton responded by throwing 12 quick ones and hitting on five.

After Borton left the game, the Bucks with Watkins and Cassady carrying the load, rode roughshod over the hapless 'Cats who had watched their last chance at victory fade away.

Northwestern's Dick Thomas, himself a potential All-American passer, looked anything but that Saturday. He completed six of 15 for a total of 62 yards, his lowest net of the season. The Bucks' pass defense reminded fans of the work last year of Fred Bruney and Tony Curcillo.

Hayes gave full credit for the win to two assistants, Doyt Perry and Bill O'Hara. O'Hara had scouted the 'Cats and from his reports Perry dreamed up a couple of special plays. One apparently was the pass thrown by Cassady to Tom Hague for a touchdown. It was one of the few passes thrown by Cassady since his high school career.

The huge crowd was given an added thrill when Jesse Owens, Ohio State track immortal, appeared on the cinder track around the gridiron. Owens lapped the track with a camera truck beside him The film was being made for the insertion into a movie short being made of the life of Owens.

Owens left the OSU campus in 1936 and copped virtually all the track records during that year's Olympic games. Despite his age, Owens showed championship form during his brief workout.

The big flag at the south end of the stadium was flying at half mast in memory of Harold Olsen, former basketball coach at Ohio State.

The flag was lowered immediately after the pre-game ceremonies. Olsen died Thursday night.

Brown Praises Operations of Defensive Unit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown put his finger on speed and spirit as the reasons this year's Cleveland Browns defensive team may become the most 'effective' pro football has seen since the 1927 New York Giants rationed 20 points to opponents in 13 games.

"They're a little faster than our previous personnel," Brown analyzed "And the defense is proud of their work Not cocky or overconfident, because they know that bad day can come. But very proud—full of spirit"

In six games the unbeaten Browns' defense has allowed only 37 points—an average of 6 1 a game. The Giants have yielded 9, and opponents are puncturing defenses of the other 10 National Football League clubs for an average of 20 points or more a game

Last Sunday the Browns' defense payed the way for a field goal and all three touchdowns by capitalizing on Washington Redskin "mistakes"—to borrow the word from Washington's coach, Earl (Curly) Lambeau. After seeing his team lose the ball on a blocked field goal try, a blocked punt, four intercepted passes, and two fumbles induced by hard tackling, Lambeau said

"This is the greatest Browns' team I've ever seen. You just can't make a single mistake, or they'll jump on you right away."

At the league schedule halfway point, there have been only two shutouts in 36 games, and the Browns have scored both, with New York and Green Bay the victims. The last comparable performance by a pro grid team defense was by the 1944 Giants who gave up 75 points in 10 games.

"Ken Konz and Ken Gorgal's extreme speed has helped the secondary a lot," Brown explained. "And Catlin, as lineback, has been of immense value And there's Don Colo doing a bang-up job at tackle."

Redlegs Sign Coach

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today signed Tom Ferrick, 38 - year-old former American League pitcher, as a coach.

Ferrick thus rejoins Manager George (Birdie) Tebbets, with whom he worked last season as player-coach at Indianapolis of the American Association. Tebbetts was manager there until he was hired to replace Rogers Hornsby.

Irish Tighten Grasp on No. 1 College Rating

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame drew 90 of 134 first place votes today and continued to solidify its positon as the No. 1 college football team in The Associated Press poll.

The Irish, who crushed Navy 38-7 for their fifth straight victory, amassed the season's high total of 1.24 points and moved 156 points ahead of second place Maryland, also unbeaten and untied.

Completing the Top Ten are Baylor, Illinois, Michigan State, Georgia Tech, West Virginia, Oklahoma, UCLA and Duke.

Ten points are given for a first place vote, nine for a second, eight for a third, etc., in the poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

The most drastic change in this week's standings saw Southern California, upset 13-7 by Oregon, fall from seventh place to 17th Duke, loser only to Army in seven games, climbed into the select bracket, from 13th to tenth.

Unbeaten Baylor, 25-7 victor over Texas Christian, and Illinois, conqueror of Purdue 21-0, held their respective places at third and fourth to keep the upper part of the list intact.

But down below Michigan State jumped from sixth to fifth and Georgia Tech from eighth to sixth, shoving West Virginia down two notches although the Mountaineers won their tough test with Penn State 20-19 to remain one of the four major unbeaten and untied elevens

Oklahoma and UCLA each moved up one rung The Sooners trounced Kansas State 34-0 and UCLA won over California 20-7. Duke gained its tenth place spot by smashing Virginia 48-6.

Two of the biggest strides were made by Stanford and Mississippi. Stanford jumped from 17th to 11th on its 48-19 victory over Washington State. Mississippi leaped from 18th to 12th on a 27-16 triumph over Louisiana State.

Notre Dame, which has led the poll from the start of the season, moves into Philadelphia Saturday for a game with Pennsylvania which has beaten Navy and played two Big Ten teams, Ohio State and Michigan, to close terms.

Maryland plays at George Washington, Baylor at Texas and Illinois at home with Michigan. Maryland figures to win fairly easily but Texas and Michigan are capable of jumbling the standings.

Of the other Top Ten teams, Michigan State is at Ohio State, Georgia Tech is host to Clemson, West Virginia is at VPI, Oklahoma at Missouri and Duke at Navy. UCLA is idle.

Here are the standings (with first place votes and team records in parentheses):

	Points
1. Notre Dame (90) (5-0)	1,243
2. Maryland (21) (7-0)	1,087
3. Baylor (7) (6-0)	906
4 Illinois (5-0-1)	782
5. Michigan State (5-1)	553
6. Georgia Tech (5-1-1)	545
7. West Virginia (10) (6-0)	504
8. Oklahoma (1) (4-1-1)	499
9. UCLA (1) (6-1)	363
10. Duke (6-1)	217

Mantle's Operation Called Successful

SPRINGFIELD, Mo (AP) — The surgeon who operated on Mickey Mantle yesterday said the New York Yankee centerfielder came through in good shape and "we expect complete recovery."

Dr Dan Yancey removed the semilunu cartilege from Mantle's right knee, which was injured in the 1951 World Series and again last July. He said the operation revealed more damage to the cartilege than was expected.

The speedy outfielder's knee "will be as strong as it was before the operation and there will be no loss of action," Dr Yancey said

Troy Bruins Hold Narrow Margin in IHL Standings

CINCINNATI (AP)—Outscored by its opponents, the Troy Bruins lead the International Hockey League by a narrow margin.

The squad defeated runnerup Toledo 2-1 and 3-2 in home-and-home games over the weekend, the first reversals dealt the Mercurys in the young season

The Bruins are making it a habit to win by close margins and lose by heavy scores. For instance, Ken McAtee's boys lost 9-1 at the hands of Cincinnati, the worst drubbing in the league.

Its goals in 10 games add to 43. Its foes have plunked the puck 44 times through Troy nets In contrast, Toledo has scored 28 times in eight games But only 12 goals have been scored against the Mercs.

Johnstown and Fort Wayne place their three game winning skeins on the block during the week's 11 league games. Both teams won three out of four last week. Johnstown climbing to a second-place tie and Fort Wayne tying with Cincinnati for fourth. The Mohawks won both their contests.

College Powers Eye Invitations For Bowl Play

NEW YORK (AP) Maryland, Oklahoma, Georgia Tech and Illinois are the leading candidates for major bowl appearances as college football heads down the November stretch.

Maryland's unbeaten, untied Terrapins and Oklahoma's once-beaten Sooners have the inside track for a Jan. 1 meeting in the Orange Bowl now that an agreement has been reached for the winners of the Atlantic Coast and Big Seven Conferences to square off in Miami.

Illinois is a strong bet to play either Stanford or UCLA in the Rose Bowl, where the Big Ten and Pacific Coast champions have been matched every year since New Year's Day, 1947.

Georgia Tech, which like Oklahoma has lost only to national pace-setting Notre Dame, appears a cinch for a post-season bid unless disaster strikes the squad. A top representative of the Southeast Conference has been invited to the Sugar Bowl in 15 of the 19 games to date and the Engineers are just that as of the moment If the Techmen want it they more than likely could have a Cotton Bowl bid, too.

Ray Eliot's Illini are in the center of the Pasadena picture not only because they are the sole unbeaten entry left in the Big Ten (3-0), but also because they are not at a disadvantage schedule-wise. If Illinois lives up to its favorite role against Michigan this Saturday the winner of the Michigan State-Ohio State match will have little chance to catch the current leader. The Wolverines and Wisconsin are slim outsiders at this point.

Southern California, ineligible for the Rose Bowl because it played there last year, nevertheless holds the trump cards on the coast. The Trojans face both Stanford and UCLA, the PCC contenders. The Indians from Palo Alto are leading with a 5-0 record and the Bruins have a 4-1 PCC mark. There is a strong possibility the two might wind up in a tie which would necessitate a vote by the conference.

By prearrangement, a ballot will be required to determine the Atlantic Coast's Orange Bowl representative, with both Maryland and Duke virtually assured of unbeaten records within the league. Jim Tatum's Terps have the added prestige of an unbeaten, untied mark behind them and a schedule of George Washington, Mississippi and Alabama ahead of them. Duke must meet Navy, Georgia Tech and North Carolina in order.

Oklahoma's Sooners remain the class of the Big Seven, where they haven't lost a conference game since midseason of 1946.

Though Baylor, still unbeaten leads the southwest candidates for the title and the automatic Cotton Bowl invitation that goes with it, its too early to concede anything to the Bears. Baylor can take a giant step forward with a victory over second place Texas Saturday. SMU and Rice are also in the running and Baylor, after its first championship since 1924, must still face the Mustangs and the Owls

Mississippi, Auburn, Alabama and Kentucky remain prospective bowl material in the Southeast but the conference games ahead will work hardships on all but Ole' Miss.

At the moment, Mississippi unbeaten West Virginia and Duke, as well as Georgia Tech, appear to be strong contenders for available Sugar and Cotton Bowl assignments.

Barons Boost Strength, Get Cleveland Ace

The Marion Barons today received added strength from the parent Cleveland club with the addition of rugged Tony Poeta. He was to report to Ott Heller's charges today and was expected in time for the practice session at the Coliseum.

Poeta has been with the Cleveland team for the early part of this season. He is a right winger and in six games with the American League club has turned in a pair of goals and four assists. Last season he played with the Barrie, Ont., junior champs.

Poeta weighs in at 175 and stands 5-8 He fills out the Barons' roster of 15 men. Although 15 men may be carried by a team only 14 can be in uniform for a game. The newest Baron is one of the players expected here by Heller who after Sunday's game promised Marion fans help would be obtained in the near future.

Tony Hemmerling, general manager of the local club, and Heller have said the Barons are looking for 'four more players.' Addition of the four would force the release of some of the present Barons but neither of the club officials would indicate which were in line to go.

BIG WRESTLING CARD THURSDAY 8 WRESTLERS

Marion Armory grappling fans are in for a "BIG" evening Thursday starting at 8:30. There will be a Tri-State Championship Match with Scottie Williams, the new champ, defending it against the popular Toledo U. grappler, Dick Torio, before turning pro. Dick won three AAU championships besides being on the Olympic team. There will be an Australian Tag Team Match, also 2 out of 3 falls bringing back the winning team of last Thursday, Irish McGee and Joe Cassius, the colored team of the Black Panther and Ricky Waldo will be the opposing team. The Panther hasn't been around in quite a while. He just returned from a wrestling tour of Australia and the Hawaiian Islands. Waldo is a former student of Ohio State U.
The opener for the evening will be Cowboy Curry, who won many admirers here his first showing. Mr. Satan, the evil one, will be the Cowboy's foe.

Radnor Cagers Open 22-Game Slate Friday

Led by six returning lettermen the Radnor Trojans open their 1953-54 basketball season Friday night when they entertain a veteran Magnetic Springs squad on the Radnor court.

Foremost among the letter winners who will be on the floor for Radnor are Donnie Maxwell and Charlie Gray, both of whom will be seeing their third year of varsity competition. Other lettermen back this year are Lowell Taylor, Andy Thompson, John Robinson and Eddy Thomas.

Radnor Coach Dick Meyer expects to make a lot of use of Bob Newland and Hughey Deal, two graduates of last year's reserve team.

Only two men are missing from las year's team which had only a 5-14 record in regular season play but wound up the year with second place in the Delaware County tournament Missing are Charles Butts, most valuable player in last year's county tourney, and his play-making guard, Don Downing.

This season's Radnor squad is one of the shortest in years; not one man on the team measures six foot or better.

Radnor is slated for a 22-game season which includes the annual carnival with St. Mary, Lexington and Elm Valley on Dec. 28 and 29 at the Coliseum. Nine of the games are on the Radnor floor, 13 on the road.

The Radnor schedule follows:

Nov. 6 Magnetic Springs, Nov 13, New Bloomington, Nov. 17, at Waldo; Nov. 29, at Prospect, Nov 24, at Lexington; Dec. 1, Pleasant, Dec. 4, at Elm Valley; Dec 11 Olentangy; Dec. 15, at Meeker. Dec. 19, at Columbus St. Mary, Dec. 22, at Bvhalia, Dec. 28-29 Carnival at the Coliseum (St Mary, Lexington, Elm Valley), Jan 5, at Big Walnut; Jan 8, at New Bloomington; Jan. 15, Scioto; Jan 19, at Olentangy; Jan 22, Elm Valley, Jan. 26, LaRue, Jan 29, Green Camp; Feb. 5, Big Walnut, Feb. 12, at Scioto.

Tiffin School Goes Into NOL

BUCYRUS — Tiffin Columbian High School will replace Crestline High School as a member of the Northern Ohio League, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of league principals.

The Tiffin school, which now is a member of the Buckeye League, was the unanimous choice of the league principals at their meeting here

Other schools considered were Tiffin Calvert, Port Clinton and Mansfield Madison.

F. H. Laman, Bucyrus High School principal, reported that Columbian officials were contacted and said they would accept membership in the league "without any reservations."

Crestline, which is seeking membership in a league composed of smaller schools, will be formally released from league membership at the end of the 1953-54 school year. They will participate in basketball and music festival events during the remainder of the current year.

Acceptance of the opening in the Northern Ohio league will necessitate some rescheduling of Columbian's 1954 football schedule.

The Tiffin school was favored because of its location, the size of the student body and its athletic principals pointed out.

Other league members are Shelby, Bucyrus, Norwalk, Willard, Galion and Upper Sandusky.

Pony, Little League Players To Hear Talk by Bob Feller

Bob Feller, dean of the Cleveland Indian mound staff will be speaker at an awards program planned by the Baseball for Boys commission on Nov. 27

The meeting is scheduled at the gymnasium at the new Harding High School and will mark the first public meeting held there

The program is open to the public and is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Feller will present awards for last season's play. Champions in the Little League and Pony League action will be recognized as well as their sponsors. The Cleveland ace will also show movies dealing with the Indians

John Luginbuhl, president of the Baseball for Boys Commission, locally, said further details of the meeting would be announced in the near future Other officers of the group are Jack Hughes, first vice president; Bill Edington, second vice president, Bob Cunningham, secretary; and Harold Henry, treasurer.

SOMEWHERE around Marion there is an intelligent, alert young man who is dissatisfied with his present occupation. He is keeping a weather eye open for a position with a future instead of just another job. Such a man should be interested in what we have to offer—an excellent opportunity to learn an entirely different kind of confidential permanent office work, right here in Marion with an old establishment. He must be willing to assume responsibility after a proper on-the-job training period. Such a young man may very possibly secure a lifetime career by sending full information about himself to Box 70, care of Marion Star.

HERE'S ONE FOR THE MOST DISCRIMINATE!
She's not too old, born in 1951. About 5-foot, 8inches tall. We won't go into the weight, but she has two pair of well-formed white-wall tires, has a gleaming light tan and brown two-tone complexion.
With the flip of a switch, you can have romantic music She's not dated for this week, so why not drop down and list your name in the little black book She has only been married once before and has only recently been divorced from her original owner.
She has a very popular name and very easy to remember . . . Ford Victoria—low mileage with Fordomatic drive She is dressed only in the best of finery and her accessories are of utmost distinction.
It won't take too much to date this girl You may own her for only $1595.

HOLLY, DOES YOUR MOTHER KNOW YOU CAME BACK HERE TO MY COMPARTMENT?
OH, LAW ME, NO, MR. CANYON!... BUT I HAVEN'T HAD A CHANCE TO EXPLAIN TO HER—
—THAT YOU AND I HAVEN'T HAD A BLESSED MINUTE ALONE TOGETHER TO TALK OVER OUR FUTURE!
OUR FUTURE?
I'M A RIGHT PRACTICAL GIRL AND I ALWAYS THINK IT'S DOWNRIGHT RISKY THE WAY COUPLES IN STORIES MEET AS ROMANTICALLY AS YOU AND I DID, THEN RUSH OUT AND GET MARRIED ON THE LAST PAGE...
I BELIEVE WE SHOULD HAVE A SERIOUS TALK ABOUT THINGS BEFORE WE MAKE ANY WEDDING PLANS!

Repair Jobs Tough At Atomic Plants

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Automatically controlled and remotely operated devices in nuclear power plants turn some of the simplest maintenance procedures into fantastically difficult tasks, according to an atomic scientist.

K. K. Campbell, superintendent of power and maintenance at the Hanford Atomic Products Operation of the General Electric Company, explained some of the problems at a conference on nuclear engineering on the University of California campus here.

Repairing a damaged gasket with long extension tools under several feet of water in a concrete cell is like trying "to use a four-foot fork to eat spaghetti," Campbell said.

In another maintenance operation, Campbell told what was required to replace a ball-bearing in a fan shaft—a simple job anywhere but in a nuclear power plant.

The operation required 30 mechanics working for three eight-hour shifts because each man could safely stand the radiation in the area for only six minutes in every 24 hours.

Campbell's description of a maintenance worker at the Hanford laboratory indicates that tomorrow's nuclear engineer might look like a "spaceman" in two suits of coveralls, leggings, rubbers, full-face mask, and two pairs of rubber gloves.

"Doing mechanical, electrical or instrument work while dressed in this manner is not easy," he said, "and the handling of small parts on a repair job requires calm nerves and unlimited patience."

Campbell suggested six rules to follow in designing nuclear power plants:

Incorporate maximum accessibility with ease of replacement, avoid false economy by spending pennies in original equipment and dollars later on maintaining it, split units into replaceable components, standardize equipment, aim for simplicity and select the proper materials.

COLLEGE JANITOR

LOGAN, Utah (UP) — Dr. E. G. Peterson, former president of Utah State Agricultural College, said in a dinner speech shortly before he retired after many years of service: "Iam what some people lovingly call the president of a college, but it's janitorial work really."

RIP KIRBY

By Alex Raymond

I WANT TO CHECK A FEW DETAILS, MISS DENTON. YOUR BROTHER SHERWOOD WAS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH AT THAT DESK, WASN'T HE? AND THE WINDOW WAS OPEN?
YES, MR. KIRBY.
HE WAS SLUMPED OVER LIKE THIS, BUT OF COURSE THE GUN WAS GONE?
THAT'S RIGHT.
GOOD! THEN I GUESS WE'RE ALL SET FOR THE EXPERIMENT...
BUT, MR. KIRBY! THAT GUN! WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH IT?

SUPERMAN

By Wayne Boring

YOU BAD BOYS! YOU'VE HAD THAT STOWAWAY SUPERMAN'S BEEN LOOKING FOR--LOCKED UP IN OUR STOREHOUSE!
GLEEPERS, SIS! WE ONLY WANTED TO MAKE SURE THAT SUPERMAN DIDN'T LEAVE US AND GO BACK TO EARTH TOO SOON!
THAT'S WHY WE DIDN'T TELL HIM! AND NOW IT'S TOO LATE! BECAUSE ZAGI AND I HAVE JUST LOOKED IN THE STOREHOUSE--AND THAT STOWAWAY IS GONE!
YOU CAN'T OUTSPEED OUR MOTORCYCLE POLICEWOMEN
DON'T TRY!
FRAILS FOR COPPERS! AHEM! BEIN' A CROOK HERE ON ALPHA CENTAURI IS GONNA BE FUN--I CAN SEE THAT!

GASOLINE ALLEY

By Frank King

Hi, cutie! Two chocolate sundaes.
An' plenty of chocolate sauce, angel face.
Don't get fresh!
You dip 'em in the chocolate—
Then blow off the papers.
An' they stick on the ceiling.
Cut it out, you two, and get out of here!

JOE PALOOKA

By Ham Fisher

ANN AND I HAD A TALK ABOUT YOU. I TOLD HER YOU WERE A VERY INTERESTING PERSON.
REALLY? WHAT ELSE? DIDN'T YOU TELL HER I WAS ☆ ☆ ☆?
BRRINGG
I TOLD YOU I WON'T TAME ANOTHER OVERSEAS CALL...WHAT...
THANK YOU.
OH...IT'S FOR YOU, JOE.
WHAT A TEMPER THAT DOLL HAS... WHATTA YA SAYIN... WHERE ARE YA... ANN GIVE ME TH' NUMBER... I GOTTA SEE YA RIGHT AWAY...
OKAY, KNOBBY, I'LL MEET YOU AT STILLMAN'S RIGHT AWAY.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

By George Wunder

THE DRAGON LADY!
YOU ARE STARTLED, FRIEND TERRY? THEN THE FAT ONE DID NOT REVEAL HIS ASSOCIATE'S IDENTITY?
YEAH! HOW COME, CHOPS?
CHOPSTICK JOE TURNS A LUCRATIVE PENNY BY SMUGGLING WEAPONS AND OTHER SUNDRIES FROM FORMOSA FOR THE USE OF MY UNDERGROUND GROUP.
THIS TIME HE DEMANDED PAYMENT IN ADVANCE FOR A GUARANTEED CURE FOR MY BOREDOM.
